ROOSEVELT OUTLINES BROAD SECURITY PROGRAM TO INCLUDE FEDERAL-STATE JOBLESS INSURANCE

STATE CONVENTION AT ALBANY VOTES FOR REFERENDUM

Report Is Adopted Condemning "Wide Open Sundays, Sunday Movies and Gambling Spirit in Georgia."

ROOSEVELT LAUDED FOR AID TO MANKIND

Financial Help to Four Colleges Withdrawn; Plans To Unite B. Y. P. U. and Schools Beaten.

ALBANY, Ga., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The Georgia Baptist convention tonight voted to request the 1935 state legislature to provide a referendum on prohibition's retention on the county unit vote plan.

The convention took this action by adopting the report read by W. W. Gaines, chairman of the social service commission.

Gaines led the recent group of prohibitionists who called on Governor Talmadge and asked the governor to make a similar request of the general assembly which meets in January.

In adopting the report, the convention also deplored "wide-open Sundays and condemned Sunday movies and Sunday liquor drinking establishments."

It endorsed the League of Decency and urged Baptists not to patronize any motion picture that is not "wholly innocent and clean" and in another section of the report called attention to "widespread uprising of the gambling spirit in Georgia."

President Roosevelt was commended for his earnest and sincere efforts in relieving distress, ending unemployment, aiding the farmer and called particular attention to his efforts to eliminate child labor.

The report dwelt at length on the evils of war and condemned "profits in the manufacture of munitions."

The convention selected Atlanta for the 1935 convention to be held November 12 and 13.

Earlier in the day the convention withdrew its financial support from four of five denominational colleges with Mercer University at Macon alone receiving sustained funds in the future.

All financial support for four of five denominational colleges was withdrawn earlier in the day by the convention. Mercer alone will receive sustained funds from the convention in the future.

The convention defeated a proposal to combine the Sunday school and R. Y. P. U. departments. It was proposed to establish a department of evangelism with the money saved by the merger.

Proposed constitutional amendments were tabled tonight by the convention.

One amendment had been adopted, one section to limit the president's term to three years when the motion

Greater PWA Program May End Direct Relief

Ickes Hints at Vast Number of Jobs To Be Provided by Threefold Expansion of Building.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The energies of all our people on a self-respecting basis in widespread economic activity.

Ickes conceded that relief must be provided until national economy can be so guided as to end unemployment.

"But the pressing problem of today," he declared, "is to provide employment which will remove the necessity for relief."

"And no one can reasonably contend that the standard of living in this country is so high that we can afford to require the employed portion of our people to support the unemployed."

The PWA chairman's statements were regarded in the capital as of unusual interest because of the uncertainty as to whether President Roosevelt would recommend new funds for that emergency agency and if so, the scale on which the operations would be continued.

Reports that as high as $12,000,000 might be asked have drawn smiles from the president and repeated statements that no definite figures had been determined.

It has been generally conceded that the size of the PWA and relief budgets would bulk large in the determination of whether new taxes will be requested of the incoming congress.

Of almost equal interest has been how far the administration would

TOOTH IDENTIFIES DISTELHURST BODY

U. S. Enters Case To Search for Slayer of Kidnaped Child.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 14.—(AP)—A baby tooth lifted the veil to day from the strange disappearance of 6-year-old Dorothy Ann Distelhurst nearly two months ago and revealed her as the victim of an abductor and murderer.

A child's body, so badly decomposed from lying in a 2-inch grave on Nashville's outskirts that recognition of physical character was impossible, was positively identified by a physician and a dentist from a small filling in the second upper molar.

The body was found last yesterday by two negro workmen in a secluded section. There was a rag gag in the mouth and the left side of the skull was crushed as by a hammer.

Immediately that it was determined the kindergarten student, who disappeared September 10 while on her way home from school, had been kidnapped and murdered, the department of justice and state law agencies joined in an intensive search for the player and for a motive.

Mother Suspects Truth. The distraught mother, Mrs. A. E. Distelhurst, was told of the findings yesterday, but the fact it had been identified as that of her chestnut brown-haired girl was withheld.

PROPAGANDA DRIVE OF AMAZING SCOPE IS LAID TO UTILITIES

First Report by Federal Trade Commission Bares Campaign Financed by Public's Money.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—A "propaganda" campaign, paid for by the public and of greater magnitude than any other ever undertaken "except possibly by governments in wartime," was laid to utilities companies today by the federal trade commission.

That conclusion was reached by the commission in its six-year long study of utilities and was contained in the first installment of a final report. Later recommendations will be made, probably suggesting that utilities be required to identify clearly propaganda material.

Today's report questioned the right of a publicly granted monopoly such as a public utility to use money collected from the public to perpetuate itself through the control of public opinion, and warned that these activities may not be abandoned.

All Methods. The commission found that every publicity method except "sky writing" was used in attempts to influence the public.

The report indicated very substantial results both in increased public goodwill, and in a decrease in the number of legislative measures to which the utilities are opposed.

"The Public Pays." "In emphasizing that the work was worthwhile, M. H. Aylesworth, then director of the National Electric Light Association, advised utility executives not to be afraid of the expense in permitting large numbers of the public to attend conventions, because the public pays."

"This is literally true, as the cost of all the public relations work is usually charged up as operating expenses by the utilities companies."

"But the public's paying does not end with that. For whenever such original payments are used in successful efforts to influence the public, the utilities are charged with the cost of the propaganda."

The commission said it "recognizes the industry's right to make public an impartial presentation of the essential facts of its business."

It does not impose a burden on the rate payer, or deceive either the investing or consuming public, and that full and honest disclosure is not only a right, but a duty to the granting public."

Press Foremost. Of the publicity mediums used, the report said:

"The press is the foremost current opinion forming body of the country. One of the prime means employed very generally and extensively by the utilities in their public relations work was to secure the good will of the press and the newspaper fraternity."

Superintendents of public schools were approached with the idea of educating school children into the workings of public utilities. As the result of such contacts, millions of pamphlets were distributed in the schools.

"The very text books in the class rooms were carefully surveyed in all schools in many of the states and definite steps taken to eliminate references to utility men or by professors receiving retainers from the industry. The cooperation of publishers of text books was solicited and obtained in the matter of having books edited by the industry before they came off the press."

Roosevelt To Arrive In Georgia Sunday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—President Roosevelt will arrive at the "Little White House," Warm Springs, Ga., next Sunday night between 10 and 11 o'clock, he said today at his bi-weekly press conference.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull and the naval corps of Washington correspondents and White House attaches will be present at the president's arrival. He will remain in Warm Springs, where Mr. Roosevelt will spend his Thanksgiving vacation.

The president always looks forward to his visits at Warm Springs with real enthusiasm. He hasn't missed a Thanksgiving Day dinner there since he was governor of New York state and he has told his intimates that he was sorry he could not spend more time at his Georgia home.

Judge Gives Cryptic Ruling As Vanderbilt Hearing Ends

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Prolonged secret testimony over the custody of 10-year-old Gloria Vanderbilt ended today with the dictum by Supreme Court Justice John F. Carew that the heiress must have a different life from the one she led with her mother.

A cryptic statement by Justice Carew, issued from the bench and afterward made public, said:

"Justice Carew decided that the child, Gloria Vanderbilt, is not to have for the future the life that it had from the death of its father up till June, 1932."

Action of New Congress To Be Sought on Plan, Group of Experts Told

System To Be Financed by Contributions, Not Taxes, Says President; Safety for Aged To Be Another Objective.

HIGH SPOTS Of President's Speech

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Some of the peaks of President Roosevelt's talk on economic security today were:

"Last June I said that this winter we might well make a beginning in the great task of providing social insurance for the citizen and his family. I have not changed my opinion. I shall have recommendations on this subject to present to the incoming congress."

"There is no tragedy in growing old, but there is tragedy in growing old without means of support."

"Organizations promoting fantastic schemes have aroused hopes which cannot possibly be fulfilled. . . . They have increased the difficulties of getting sound legislation."

"Unemployment insurance will be on the program. I am still of the opinion expressed in my message of June 8 that this part of social insurance should be a co-operative federal-state undertaking."

"Unemployment insurance must be set up with the purpose of decreasing rather than increasing unemployment."

"It is of course clear that because of their magnitude the investment and liquidation of reserve funds must be within control of the government itself. For the administration of insurance benefits, the states are the most logical units."

"In January the great majority of state legislatures will convene, as well as congress. You who are interested in seeing that unemployment insurance is established on a nation-wide basis should make your plans accordingly."

"We must not allow this type of insurance to become a dole through the mingling of insurance and relief. It is not charity, but must be financed by contributions, not taxes."

"I hope that in time we may be able to provide security for the aged—a sound and a uniform system which will provide true security."

"There is also the problem of economic loss due to sickness—a very serious matter for many families with and without incomes and therefore an unfair burden upon the medical profession."

W. S. WITHAM SR. WALLACE NEUTRAL DIES AT AGE OF 81 ON BANKHEAD ACT

Pioneer Georgia Banker Retired From Active Business in 1915.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace, avowedly seeking to maintain administration neutrality, today disclaimed responsibility for a plea by Cully A. Cobb, head of the AAA cotton section, urging retention of the Bankhead cotton control bill.

A ballot will be held within a month. All producers of cotton are eligible to vote as to whether the Bankhead, the first compulsory cotton control measure passed by congress, shall be continued another year or scrapped. The legislation will be discarded unless two-thirds of the cotton growers favor it.

Secretary Wallace announced several days ago that neither he nor the Plot Against Boris Rumored in Balkans

VIENNA, Austria, Nov. 14.—(UP)—The strife-torn Balkans were thrown into fresh turmoil tonight by rumors of a plot to kill King Boris of Bulgaria.

Reports of new intrigue among Macedonian revolutionary leaders were responsible. A government announcement said archives of the Macedonians had been uncovered, including the names of many recipients of money for agitating against the Bulgarian government.

The archives were reported to include strong evidence of a plot to oust Premier Kimon Georgiev, the king's aid, as the first step toward overthrow of the monarchy. It was admitted the records showed no direct move so far against Boris, but the information of Macedonian activities aroused deep concern.

System To Be Financed by Contributions, Not Taxes, Says President;

DRIVE TO BE MADE TO CUT RELIEF LIST

President Urges State Legislators To Study Recommendations Closely and Act Accordingly.

Text of Address in Page 7.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The broad outlines of a social security plan, definitely incorporating unemployment insurance as a part of the next congressional program, were sketched today by President Roosevelt and turned over to a group of experts for refining.

The immediate objectives of the program the president has decided upon were:

Unemployment insurance of a co-operative federal-state form; the funds to be held and invested by the federal government; the benefits to be administered by the states.

Enactment of state laws to carry out such a program.

An effort to bring the persons now on relief rolls back into productive employment and thereby put them under the insurance system.

From a long range standpoint, he proposed:

A uniform system to provide security for the aged.

A method, perhaps through insurance, for providing against the economic loss due to sickness.

Mr. Roosevelt declared that his unemployment insurance plan "must be financed by contributions, not taxes. He did not expand the idea, but many of his hearers interpreted his words to mean that those benefiting would be expected to contribute the necessary funds. Under this meaning, both employer and employee would join in advancing the money. Labor has contended that industry should be assessed for the entire fund.

Objectives Outlined. In a brief talk, the president outlined these objectives to his committee on economic security and its newly-created advisory council. He turned over to them the job of working out a weapon for a "bold stroke" toward economic security the hundreds of proposals that had been presented during an all-day session.

"In developing each component part of the broad program for economic security, we must not lose sight of the fact that there can be no security for the individual in the midst of general insecurity," the president said.

"Our first task is to get the economic system to function so that there will be a greater general security. Everything that we do with intent to increase the security of the individual will, I am confident, be a stimulus to recovery."

"At this time we are deciding on long time objectives. We are developing a plan of administration into which can be fitted the various parts of the security program when it is timely to do so. We cannot work miracles or solve all the problems at once."

"What we can do is to lay a sound foundation on which we can build a structure to give a greater measure

Brenau College's Chair of 'Peace' Scored as 'Un-American' by Legion

Establishment of a chair of "peace" at Brenau College with Jeannette Rankin, the nation's first congresswoman, in that post, Wednesday brought an attack from the American Legion.

Kenneth Murrell, commander of Atlanta Post No. 1, in a statement charged the move was "un-American."

DeLacey Allen, of Albany, state commander, who was present at the meeting of the post at which Murrell made his statement, added the endorsement of the state organization, saying:

"It is the aim of the department to try to prevent any such communistic ideas being taught in the state and that the department will utilize every effort possible to combat the policies being encouraged by Brenau College."

The college is situated at Gainesville, Ga., 60 miles from Atlanta in the foothills of the Blue Ridge mountains. It is an old established institution for young women and is widely known for its music department.

Murrell charged the establishment of the chair of "peace" designed to promote the principles and ideals of peaceful society, is detrimental to the welfare of American youth.

There is no room in this country for but one 'ism,' Murrell said, "and we are going on record condemning any other than true 'Americanism.'"

He continued:

"It is apparent that Brenau College through this 'peace chair' is encouraging pacifism among its students and we members of Atlanta Post No. 1, American Legion, have gone on record as denouncing any such activities of such a noted source of education in this state as Brenau College."

"There is a spirit of unrest and uneasiness throughout the world and to create interest in any 'ism' other than Americanism among the youth of this country is branded by our organization as 'un-Americanism' and is considered by us a detriment to the welfare of progress and movement toward preparedness, and has un-American tendencies."

Murrell said a copy of a resolution adopted at the last meeting of the post will be sent to the college asking that the action in establishing the chair be rescinded and urging the institution "to create a policy of 'true Americanism' in educating its students."

Miss Rankin, who now lives on her farm a number of miles from Atlanta, was a former member of congress from Montana and voted against America's entrance into the World War.

PAULK IS NAMED HEAD OF TECH SENIOR CLASS

Fitzgerald, Ga., Student Wins Over E. V. Johnson, of Red Wing, Minn.

Election of class officers at Georgia Tech resulted in the naming of Wright T. Paulk, of Fitzgerald, Ga., as president of the senior class. It was announced Wednesday by W. H. Glenn, president of the student council.

E. V. Johnson, of Red Wing, Minn., tied with Paulk for the office, but Paulk was named president and Johnson vice president in keeping with the constitution of the student body, which provides for the selection of the man receiving the highest vote in the primary as president when a tie occurs in the final balloting. Paulk polled a higher vote than Johnson in the primary, held November 5.

Jerry Perkinson, of Atlanta, was elected secretary and treasurer of the senior class.

In the junior class elections, Dan Holmbeck, of Atlanta, was elected president; Culver Kidd, of Milledgeville, Ga., vice president, and Mason Williams, of Monroe, Ga., secretary and treasurer.

The sophomore class elected Richard Beard, of Atlanta, president; Lawrence Hayes, of Atlanta, vice president, and Harry Appleby, of Atlanta, secretary and treasurer.

Jack Nixon, of Augusta, was named president of the freshman class; Jack Chivington, of Chattanooga, vice president, and Charles Bickertoff, of Atlanta, secretary and treasurer.

New Typhoon Sweeps Across Philippines

MANILA, Nov. 15.—(P)—(Thursday)—A typhoon tore destructively across the Philippines today and swirled on toward anxiety-ridden Manila.

Three provinces were isolated quickly as the furious storm hit the islands southeast of here. Torrents of rain damaged banana, coconut, hemp and other crops, flattened telephone lines and wrought other havoc in the provinces of Samar, Leyte and Sorsogon.

Reports indicated the storm would be more destructive than the typhoon of October 16, which killed 87 persons and destroyed the homes of 21,000 others in Manila and nearby provinces.

Siren blasts were sounded at intervals in the downtown section to warn the populace of the oncoming storm. The wind was increasing in the velocity.

About 150 miles away, the ship Daet wirelessly a warning that the wind was of hurricane force, or in excess of 75 miles an hour, as compared with the 57-mile gale in the previous destructive storm.

TUBERCULOSIS DEATHS SHOW DROP IN GEORGIA

Decrease Credited by Abercrombie To Control Program of Health Board.

A tuberculosis control program begun by the state board of health in 1930 Wednesday was largely credited by Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, of the state board, with decreasing the number of deaths caused by tuberculosis in Georgia from 2,165 in 1931 to 1,770 in 1933.

The control service, Dr. Abercrombie said, was undertaken in co-operation with the state tuberculosis sanatorium, Georgia physicians and the Georgia Tuberculosis Association.

A tuberculosis field clinic service has been inaugurated during the last year with the co-operation of the Georgia emergency relief administration, Dr. Abercrombie said. The new plan, based on diagnosis by X-ray and a study of histories obtained by trained field nurses, makes it possible to examine 15,000 persons annually, as compared to 6,000 under the old method.

Ten field nurses made available by FERA funds schedule 300 patients for examination each week by the X-ray unit.

Dr. Abercrombie said the state board's policy was to encourage treatment of tubercular patients at home by their family physicians. He estimated there were approximately 10,000 active cases of tuberculosis in the state, whereas the number of beds available for such patients are less than 700.

Dr. Abercrombie said about 120 new cases are being discovered among the approximately 1,100 persons examined each month by the clinical unit.

6 STICKS OF DYNAMITE FOUND IN BRUNO'S HOME

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 14.—(P)—State police said today they have removed six sticks of dynamite from the home of Joseph Bruno, former detective and one of seven men charged with the election eve slaying of five marchers in a democratic parade at Ketyres.

Sergeant William Francis made the announcement, while officials awaited word from Attorney-General William A. Schnader on a request for appointment of a special prosecutor in the case.

SUMMER TANGERS

More familiar and less spectacular than the scarlet tanager is his cousin, the summer tanager. It is more nearly crimson than scarlet and does not have the contrasting wings and tail. A casual glance at some distance might lead one to confuse this bird with the cardinal, although it would never happen at close range.

Last spring Earle Greene, Lucien Harris Jr., and I went out to Stone Mountain to see what we could see. I was after some salamanders as usual and did point out a summer tanager to Greene, calling it a cardinal. I was taken aback when he handed me his glasses and told me to take a second look. I told the story on myself to Mrs. Carter that night. She expressed a desire to see the species. Two days later, one landed in a tall china-berry tree on our place and stayed there long enough for us all to get several good looks.

The female of the scarlet and summer tanagers are almost identical in plumage. The male summer tanager at no time has the contrasting wings and tail.

Martins

Purple martins are familiar to anyone who has ever made even a short visit in the country. Those who have not been stopping but have been passing through rather rapidly have perhaps noticed the crook-necked gourds hanging on tall poles. These are martin homes.

A more joyous and active species of bird probably never existed. They seem to take all their prey on the wing and they may be seen every day in the summer chasing their interminable ways through the skies after insects. The male bird has a purplish cast to his coat and is more or less uniform in color. The female has light underparts with fine streaking of brown about the breast and a light collar over the neck.

It is this species that has caused the residents of certain parts of our fair city to implore the fire department to come out and wash them away with streams of water. This was tried, I understand, but failed miserably, for the birds were in the fever of migration, when nothing can stop their activities short of death.

WATCHFUL CARE AT EVERY STEP

Women sometimes ask us how it is possible to make every one of millions of packages of Kellogg's Corn Flakes uniform in purity, crispness and flavor.

The 40,000 people who visit our factory in Battle Creek each year see the answer for themselves. They see the whole process of making Kellogg's Corn Flakes, from the huge, bright kitchens to the packaging machines. Spotless cleanliness everywhere. And everywhere watchful inspectors testing the product for quality and uniformity.

The result is that when Kellogg's Corn Flakes reach your table they are as pure, clean and wholesome as any food you can buy.

You are insistent on giving your children pure milk from sanitary dairies. Isn't it just as important that the corn flakes on which they pour that milk be cleanly, carefully made?

Don't be satisfied with substitutes. Ask your grocer for Kellogg's Corn Flakes, in the red-and-green package.

Caroline Miller Is Awarded Coveted Honor by France

BAXLEY, Ga., Nov. 14.—(AP)—New honors came from France today to Georgia's housewife-author, Caroline Miller.

She was awarded the coveted Prix Femina Vie Heureuse American, by the same committee in Paris which will award the French Prix Femina in December. The award is made annually to American authors.

The honor carries no cash prize for the writer of "Lamb in His Bosom," but consists of a translation of the book into French and the author's rights to French publication.

The prestige that goes with the award is the big thing for authors. The prize was awarded first only to French works by a group of 25 French women who organized themselves in 1904 "to encourage literary careers and recompense strong and original work bearing evidence of thought and force and the promise of future improvement."

In 1910 the committee decided to create an English section to receive a similar prize and the United States was included in 1931.

The committee in the United States, headed by Edna St. Vincent Millay and including Ellen Glasgow and Julia Peterkin among the southern authors, selects each year three titles which are recommended for French translation for the prize.

The French committee selects the winner from the three.

Willis Cather won the 1932-33 award for her "Shadows on the Rock."

Mrs. Miller, whose first novel won the Pulitzer prize and also the Prix Femina, has been working at Waynesville, N. C., for the past few months on a new novel.

Publication of "Lamb in His Bosom" in the United States is now approaching the 50,000 mark.

3 PERSONS KILLED, 3 SERIOUSLY HURT IN ACCIDENTS HERE

Hayes will be taken by Harry G. Poole to Duluth this morning for dental services and burial, while that of Mr. Staton will be taken to Duluth during the day by a Duluth undertaker.

Crozier Badly Hurt. John W. Crozier, federal narcotic agent, of 929 Euclid avenue, N. E., was critically injured in an automobile accident near Savannah Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Crozier, accompanied by an unidentified man, was en route to Jacksonville, when his machine struck a log truck which had halted for repairs and overturned. It was reported in news dispatches. The accident occurred 17 miles south of Savannah. Both men were pinned beneath the wreckage of the government automobile.

An army ambulance which passed the scene took the injured men to the Warren A. Candler hospital at Savannah.

Mr. Crozier was knocked unconscious by the impact of his car with the truck and several hours after the mishap had not regained consciousness. A doctor reported that he had a fracture of the skull and was also believed to be internally injured. His scalp was also gashed deeply and he was bruised and cut about the face. The other man suffered only from a scalp gash and bruises.

The federal agent had been attending court in Savannah, it was said, and was en route to a meeting of the board of directors of the division, at Jacksonville, when the accident occurred. Daley was given a lift to Jacksonville. Narcotic authorities in Atlanta were notified of the accident Wednesday night and Dr. P. A. Williams, assistant inspector in charge, left immediately for Savannah.

Death Grazes Two. John Cretz, 73, of Sherlock, Mich., and Mrs. Cretz, 56, narrowly escaped death Wednesday morning when their car overturned at Hemphill avenue and Fourteenth street following a collision with an automobile driven by E. W. Klein Jr., of 456 Peachtree Battle avenue. Mr. Cretz was admitted to Grady hospital, severely injured, and was reported to be in a serious condition because of his advanced age.

Mrs. Cretz received treatment at the hospital for a wrenched back and other injuries, but was released. Klein's automobile was traveling east on Hemphill and the Cretz car with moving north on the street when the two collided, according to police reports. Klein was treated at the hospital for minor injury to his hand and a charge of reckless driving and accident was made against him.

Car Crashes Tree. Two men, Moon Baker, 31, of 363 Ponce de Leon avenue, and Little, 21, of Columbia drive, Decatur, were injured Wednesday when Baker's automobile, which, according to police reports, was driven by Little, crashed into a tree at the intersection of Ponce de Leon avenue and Oakdale road. Baker was admitted to Grady hospital suffering from a compound fracture of his left leg. Little was cut about the face and arms by flying glass and was released from the hospital after he was treated.

Police Wednesday night were searching for the woman driver of a bit-and-run automobile which Wednesday collided at Inman street and West View drive, S. W., with a truck driven by Jeff Brown, of Villa Rica, injuring one passenger, John McGraw, of Villa Rica, who was treated at Grady hospital for cuts and bruises. The truck was badly damaged.

S. W. Ragdale, of Daley, Ga., after carrying Will Hardman, negro, of 178 Harris street, to Grady hospital for treatment, reported that he had struck the negro with his automobile at Hunter street and Central avenue. Hardman was dismissed after he was treated and no case was made against Ragdale.

Economic Committee Ends Study on Trade

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The commission on inquiry on national policy in international economic relations, in a preliminary report today, said the majority of persons who gave testimony at its hearings favored an expansion of foreign trade rather than a policy of economic isolation.

The commission, under the chairmanship of Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, will make public its own report, with recommendations, November 26.

League Will Finish Plans on Saar Vote

GENEVA, Nov. 14.—(AP)—With Europe's political atmosphere disturbed by reports that German Nazis are planning to seize the Saar by force and French preparations to forestall any such move, the League of Nations council will meet November 21 to complete arrangements for the Saar plebiscite.

Tension prevailing during recent weeks has lessened, however, as the result of statements by German authorities that no such move is being prepared and disclaimers by the French that they intend to send troops into the region.

Residents of the rich Saar basin, governed since the treaty of Versailles by the League, vote January 13 whether to remain under the League, go back to Germany or join France.

ME THODISTS OPEN MACON CONFERENCE

By ROBERT BUNNELLE, Associated Press Staff Writer.

MACON, Ga., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Limitation of the tenure of presiding elders appeared as a controversial question at the opening session of the sixteenth annual convention of the South Georgia conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, tonight and the question was fixed as a special item of business for tomorrow.

To Vote Today. The suggested change would require presiding elders to serve a pastorate four years before reappointment as presiding elders. W. F. Quillian, secretary of the general board of education of the church, moved that the vote be taken tomorrow without debate. Bascom Anthony, of Macon, objected to any exclusion of debate and after a bit of heated discussion it was decided that debate would precede any vote.

Visitors were welcomed tonight by B. F. Burden, chairman of the board of deacons of the Vineville Methodist church, where the convention is meeting, a member of the church for nearly 70 years. Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, presiding, responded.

In a brief talk tonight, Bishop Ainsworth told the convention the "world is on the verge of something big" and warned that "many people have been swept from their moorings."

"But God is not bankrupt," he continued, "and he is not going to let the world be a wasteland of faith in Christ."

LA: SENATE SPURS LONG'S PROGRAM

Kingfish Hints at Cancellation of Debts as Solons Rush 44 Bills.

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The Louisiana senate tonight showed fully as much willingness as the house to push United States Senator Huey Long's 44 "dictator" and "share-the-wealth" bills through to final passage by Friday morning.

As the "Kingfish" looked on with relish, the senate received the measures, which were passed a few hours earlier by the house, and in 15 minutes had suspended the rules, passed them to second and third reading and referred them to the finance committee before adjourning until 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

The finance committee will meet at 2 p. m. tomorrow, report the bills favorably and send them back to the senate Thursday night, where they will be engrossed and passed to third reading.

Friday morning the senate will pass the bills and then rush them over to the house for concurrence in any possible amendments.

Not a murmur was raised against the measures in the senate. Long rambled around the floor before the session started, talking and joking with members and laughing loudly at his own jokes.

Debt Cancellation Hinted. The "Kingfish-Senator-Dictator" tonight hinted that his two-year debt moratorium bill which unanimously passed the house of representatives of the Louisiana legislature late today was the turning point for complete debt cancellation.

He described it as the "most radical feature of my revolutionary share-the-wealth program" on which he is seeking to succeed to the presidency of the United States.

"You can't stop our program," the Kingfish asserted.

"What do you think of my most controversial bill going over unanimously?" Long asked after his entire program of broad, Napoleonic powers for Louisiana had been shot through the house.

"It is the most radical feature of my revolutionary share-the-wealth program, and I expected opposition."

"The rest of the 43 states will snap it up so quick it's going to make your head swim."

"Do you contemplate eventual debt cancellation?" Long was asked.

"We've got to do something about this debt situation," the senator shot back. "This is only the beginning!"

"The Bible provides somewhere for cancellation of debts every seven years."

The senator, seated on the dais of the house of representatives after the adjournment of the senate, entered the realm of boredom as his power broadening program clicked through and was rushed to the senate for approval in record time.

After his bill providing for a suspension of debts for two years and other major measures had gone through the machine by votes ranging from unanimity of choice to a safe and commanding majority, the Kingfish crossed his legs, moaned that he was tired, ordered a soft drink and started reading the columns of a daily newspaper.

Hardly a voice was raised in discussion against the 44 bills he had introduced into the extraordinary session of the legislature to broaden his powers over Louisiana.

Unanimous.

The debt moratorium bill passed unanimously, 80 to 0. Other votes ranged from 55 to 1 for passage to 65 to 25 against.

FAGAN ON TRIAL IN SLAPPEY SLAYING

Overseer Goes on Trial Today in Macon County.

OGLETHORPE, Ga., Nov. 14.—(AP) Lynn Fagan, former overseer of the George Slappey farms, is scheduled to go on trial in Macon county superior court tomorrow, on a charge of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of his employer at the latter's picturesque home, Sleepy Hollow.

It was in evidence at a commitment hearing that the shooting followed an altercation over alleged attentions Slappey paid Mrs. Fagan.

A coroner's jury held the death of Slappey justifiable, but a warrant was sworn out later by a member of the Slappey family and Fagan was placed under bond after the charge was reduced to manslaughter.

Formerly Slappey was one of the state's largest growers of peaches.

Bishop Candler Speaks At Reinhardt Meeting

CANTON, Ga., Nov. 14.—A mass meeting was held here this afternoon at the First Baptist church, the object of which was to lay plans and begin the drive for funds to build a boys' dormitory at Reinhardt College, located at Waleska, in Cherokee county.

The principal speaker was Bishop Warren A. Candler, who was introduced by Samuel C. Dobbs, of Atlanta, chairman of the board of trustees of the college.

Bishop Candler's subject was "Education," and he dwelt at length on Christian education and the advantages that might be derived by poor boys and girls from colleges such as Reinhardt.

No subscriptions were asked or taken at the meeting, but plans were made to begin the drive soon to raise $25,000 to build the dormitory and headquarters have been opened in the Etowah Bank building here. The quota for Cherokee county has been set at $10,000.

The dormitory is to replace the building burned last spring.

Local Option Favored By Key on Prohi Issue

ROME, Ga., Nov. 14.—Cities and counties of Georgia should have the right to vote on whether they will be wet or dry, Mayor James L. Key, of Atlanta, here to attend meeting of the seventh district division of the Georgia Mayors' Association, said tonight.

Purposes of the mayors' association, of which he is president, were explained to a group of Rome citizens by Mayor Key at a dinner at Hotel Greystone. Among other things he said the association should seek state maintenance of highways through cities.

As to repeal of the estate prohibition law, the speaker said cities should have the right to determine their own course irrespective of the vote of the counties in which they are located. A city that favors legalized liquor should not be forced to remain dry because it is located in a dry county, he contended.

The opening session of the district meeting will be held Thursday morning. A luncheon at noon will be followed by a brief afternoon session. Mayors and members of the legislature from both seventh and ninth districts have been invited.

NEGRO BAPTISTS OPEN MEETING AT NEWNAN

NEWMAN, Ga., Nov. 14.—More than 1,000 negro preachers and laymen were present at the opening of the annual session of the Baptist convention of Georgia here today at Mount Vernon Baptist church, with Dr. J. N. Nabrit, president, presiding.

Dr. J. N. Johnson, of Atlanta, was the principal speaker at the memorial services today.

Welcome services were held at the courthouse, with Rev. S. M. W. Anderson, president, Rev. H. Anderson and Dr. A. M. Pierce, pastor of the First Methodist church, were among the speakers.

The educational sermon was by Rev. R. W. Riley, of Rome, after which many reports were read and adopted. A strong appeal was made for the foreign mission board, and a liberal donation followed.

BURKE GRAND JURY ASKS DRY LAW REPEAL

WAYNESBORO, Ga., Nov. 14.—(AP) The Burke grand jury today presented a recommendation for the repeal of the state prohibition law.

FEEL 15 YEARS OLDER THAN YOU REALLY ARE?

Run Down... tired out... can't sleep; sick headaches... gas... acid indigestion; care little about eating?

A stomach which is excessively acid will keep you in just such a condition. It can't digest what you eat because the excessive acidity destroys the activity of the vital gastric fluids. They are absolutely necessary to digest your food and prevent it from fermenting and causing your stomach to feel as if it were full of gas. You have never had any relief because you have not had the remedy which wipes out that acidity out of your system. It is a new one... called Placidin... which wipes out the acidity, restores the undigested lumps of food and soothes the irritated stomach. Then those gastric fluids become active again... immediately your stomach feels as if it were full of gas. You will have an appetite, get back the weight you lost and feel like a healthy person should.

When you feel stuffed from eating the lightest kind of a meal, mouth and throat dry, heartburn, that's usually acidity. Get a three-ounce package of Placidin from a druggist. Costs very little at the new lower price. Drink some water with a teaspoonful of Placidin in it. It will wipe out acidity in your stomach before it gets into your bowels. All drug stores have Placidin. It is not laxative. Does not purge the bowels and contains no sugar.—(adv.)

NOW! COLDS GO OVERNIGHT!

No need to let a cold hang on. Take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at the first symptom and you will quickly kill the cold. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine acts decisively because it does four things necessary: it opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grumpy feeling and tones the entire system. Hot and dry, all day long.

BAPTISTS REQUEST DRY REFERENDUM

The convention adopted the report on foreign missions by the Rev. W. H. Barrett, of Dawson, and on the Christian Index, under the new plan in which the inimitable Miss Brady pursues Horton with marital designs.

Fred Gladys Miss Rogers and her husband, Mr. Rogers, are pursuing her grimly, singing and dancing into her heart.

She cannot return his love, however, because she is under obligations to another man. To free herself, through a friend, a professional flit, intending to stage an affair which will make her former sweetheart jealous.

Her plan backfires ludicrously when Fred, about whose private life she knows nothing, comes upon the scene under circumstances the contrary of those which she had planned.

Miss Rogers to believe he is the professional flit.

The settings are the most lavish ever constructed on the RKO-Radio lot in Hollywood. One of the most important of the settings is the "Caracas," a resort hotel as such hostilities are expected to be 50 years hence, was so huge that an addition to the stage had to be built to provide room for the camera.

Of the no less than four smart specialty dances, one at least, "The Continental," will challenge the remarkable popularity of the "Caracas," last season's Astaire and Rogers demonstration. Dave Gould staged both "The Caracas" and "The Continental." Mark Sandrich directed.

Alabama Beer Dealers Lose Injunction Move

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 14.—(AP) Unsuccessful in their second attempt to enjoin collection of the federal excise tax of $1,000 from beer and liquor dealers in dry states, Alabama dispensers now face immediate prosecution unless the tax is paid. It was announced today from the office of Harwell G. Davis, state collector of United States internal revenue.

ROOFERS TO IGNORE LUMBER CODE PRICES

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 14.—(AP) Roofers manufacturers of Georgia and Alabama voted to adopt the custom of free trading, ignoring prices fixed by the lumber code at a meeting of the Roofers Manufacturers' Association here yesterday.

The resolution provided that the custom of free trading be adopted by the members of the association. After that date the lumbermen "will establish our own prices on our own product."

The group also voted to ask a hearing before NRA officials at Washington on abolition of fixed prices under codes.

The next meeting of the organization will be held here January 8, at which time the annual election of officers will take place.

JOHN R. BYERS PASSES AT GAINESVILLE HOME

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Nov. 14.—John R. Byers, 53, employee of the local post office for 30 years, died unexpectedly at his home here tonight. He was a deacon of the First Baptist church and was prominent in Gainesville civic affairs.

He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Kathryn Reed; three sisters, Mrs. W. H. Gould, of Dodge City, Kan.; Mrs. A. T. Winters, of Gainesville; and Mrs. Z. R. Rosemond, of Atlanta; four brothers, Dr. A. C. Byers, and W. A. Byers, of Atlanta; Captain R. A. Byers, of St. Louis; and J. H. Byers, of Henderson, Texas.

A funeral service will be held Friday at the First Baptist church with Newton & Ward in charge.

A. M. E. CONFERENCE OPENS AT MONTICELLO

MONTICELLO, Ga., Nov. 14.—The Atlanta conference of the A. M. E. church here today, with Bishop W. A. Fountaine presiding.

Dr. W. H. Ward, Lawrence R. V. Thornton, J. F. Moore, R. E. Roman, G. R. Lancaster, presiding elders of the conference, assisted the bishop in the opening of the conference.

The bishop delivered his annual address on "Ministerial Efficiency and Evangelism." Dr. R. H. Boone, of R. H. Boone, Dr. A. C. Byers, and Dr. R. J. Knight, of Atlanta, were named as speakers for the conference. Dr. R. H. Boone, of R. H. Boone, Dr. A. C. Byers, and Dr. R. J. Knight, of Atlanta, were named as speakers for the conference.

The bishop announced the death and funeral of Dr. W. H. Harris, treasurer of Morris Brown College, for Friday, in Atlanta.

Named for Niece.

James Hall is named for the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Pfeiffer, the donors. Mrs. Blanche Metzer, who was unable to be present, due to sickness in her family.

This is the third building presented to the home by Mr. and Mrs. Pfeiffer. D. R. Pfeiffer, a boy's dormitory, and Mermer Hall, a combination dining room, kitchen and laundry, having been dedicated one year ago. The three buildings are connected by stone arcades and form a beautiful semi-circular group of modern type. They cost combined approximately $85,000.

Ethel Harpst first came to Cedartown 20 years ago as superintendent of a small home mission, sponsored by the W. H. M. S. of the Methodist Episcopal church, in the mill village here. Early meetings were held in a small room, but the scope of her work gradually broadened and her influence was a powerful factor in improvement of living conditions here.

Some years later the Bradford Home estate was bought and utilized as a home for a number of orphaned and dependent children who had come under Miss Harpst's care. As more room was acquired in the form of new buildings and as the personnel in charge was increased, more children were added to the home until today 83 boys and girls of all ages now live at the home.

The buildings given by Mr. and Mrs. Pfeiffer have climaxed this growth, making the institution one of the finest and most attractive in the state of this type.

The work is now confined to Polk county children chiefly from the rural mountain sections, in most cases their mothers have died and a large proportion have neither parent living. A few families have been taken in while both parents lived, either because their homes were considered im-

REVIEWING THE SHOWS

'Gay Divorcee' Starts Paramount Run Today

Elaborate new spectacles of beauty, rhythm and romance feature the screen's big musical comedy, "The Gay Divorcee," starting today at the Paramount, and co-starring Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire of "Cariac" fame. Music by five noted melody makers is featured and a joyous plot that tickled New York for 288 performances and London for six months is developed.

The plot itself is a hilarious sort of romance boasting a ceaseless flow of complications as Astaire madly pursues the lovely Miss Rogers across many dancing floors and through the mazes of a swank and futuristic hotel.

A second romance is provided by Alice Brady and Edward Everett Horton, in which the inimitable Miss Brady pursues Horton with marital designs.

Fred Gladys Miss Rogers and her husband, Mr. Rogers, are pursuing her grimly, singing and dancing into her heart.

She cannot return his love, however, because she is under obligations to another man. To free herself, through a friend, a professional flit, intending to stage an affair which will make her former sweetheart jealous.

Her plan backfires ludicrously when Fred, about whose private life she knows nothing, comes upon the scene under circumstances the contrary of those which she had planned.

Miss Rogers to believe he is the professional flit.

The settings are the most lavish ever constructed on the RKO-Radio lot in Hollywood. One of the most important of the settings is the "Caracas," a resort hotel as such hostilities are expected to be 50 years hence, was so huge that an addition to the stage had to be built to provide room for the camera.

Of the no less than four smart specialty dances, one at least, "The Continental," will challenge the remarkable popularity of the "Caracas," last season's Astaire and Rogers demonstration. Dave Gould staged both "The Caracas" and "The Continental." Mark Sandrich directed.

Tenth Street Scores With 'One More River'

"One More River," currently showing at the Tenth Street theater, is an unusually good film and we want to say so at the outset. The Tenth Street theater, appreciatively remembered by the patrons of its past, is a policy of presenting the best available foreign pictures, has inaugurated a new policy of screening pictures which lack mass appeal, and are therefore unsuitable for the large downtown houses, but which are, nevertheless, outstanding creations, even though their appeal is more limited. If subsequent pictures of the standard set by "One More River," the Tenth Street undoubtedly will become the mecca of those in the vicinity of Atlanta who appreciate unusual screen fare.

The leading characters are many: Diana Wynyard, Colin Clive, Jane Wyatt (new to the screen), Frank Lawton, Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Lionel Atwill, Ronald Denny. The mere enumeration of names means little but the performance of each is splendid—evincing a profound grasp of John Galsworthy's problem.

The background is English, and good English. Every minor character displays unusual attainments but the director forbears from intruding them upon the main action, even occasionally of the stage but striking photography, not of the sort, however, which detracts by emphasizing technique, transposes the enduring quality of good drama to an enduring medium.

Another of the stage-trained actresses (Miss Wynyard gained success on the British stage) is Mr. Patrick Campbell. She plays a frequent chuckle with a gruff, though subtle humor, in the classical manner of the rich English accent.

Also shown is a vandyke short subject which should appeal even to non-vandyke audiences; another short subject on non-shattering glass and a Pathe news reel. —B. M.

MOTHERS...watch CHILD'S COLD

COMMON colds often settle in throat and chest where they may become dangerous. Don't take chances—at the first sniffle rub on Children's Musterole.

Children's Musterole is just good old Musterole, only in milder form. It penetrates the skin with a warming tingle and goes to the seat of trouble. It gets such marvelous results because it's NOT just a salve, but a "counter-irritant"—quick and helpful in drawing out pain and congestion.

Used by millions for 25 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists. In three strengths: Regular Strength, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong. Tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau, No. 4867.

1-Pound Baby Living

At Spokane Hospital
SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 14.—(AP)—A one-pound baby is being fed with a medicine dropper in an effort to save its life.

The mite, a four-day-old boy, was reported by Dr. W. W. Robinson and Dr. H. T. Pederson to have been born more than three months earlier than expected.

They said he was "doing as well as could be expected." The names of the parents were withheld at the hospital.

when the automobile in which she was riding with her husband was struck by a Georgia railroad passenger train near Conyers.

The couple, who were en route to Atlanta to visit their daughter, Mrs. D. R. Duke, 188 Campbell street, S. E., and their son, W. W. Galloway, of 177 Campbell street, S. W., were brought to the local hospital. Mrs. Galloway was found to be suffering from serious internal injuries, a fractured collar bone and shock. Mr. Galloway was only slightly injured.

In addition to her son and daughter, Mrs. Galloway also is survived by Mrs. C. H. Foster and Miss Lillian Galloway, daughters.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Kirkwood Baptist church with the Rev. H. H. Shirley officiating. Burial will be in East View cemetery, Awtry & Lowndes in charge.

Dr. Turner said: "In the fall of 1933, 32,539 subscribers pledged $366,000 to the Chest. During the progress of the campaign this fall 35,591 subscribers have up to this time pledged $328,000 and we are very grateful for these subscriptions. We feel that we cannot be too proud of the increase more than 3,000 subscribers over last year's response to our appeal. We believe, however, there are still several thousand potential subscribers in the city who can afford to give from $2.00 to $10.00 per person to help us reach the needs of this community."

"Those who are not seen by a solicitor may send their subscriptions to the Chest office, P. O. Box 1038. We hope you will do this."

Slump to 28 Degrees

Slated for City Today

Warning Atlantans that they must again observe the cold weather rituals of filling auto radiators with antifreeze, keeping fires well stoked and performing other familiar ceremonies, Forecaster George W. Mindling Wednesday predicted another drop to 28 degrees after a day's respite of warm November weather.

The high mark today should be around 48 degrees, according to the report. The mercury Wednesday ranged between 43 and 51 degrees in Atlanta, with a low reading of 40 degrees at the airport.

Unsettled weather just west of the Mississippi river is likely to bring clouds to Atlanta's skies tonight or Friday, the weatherman stated.

High temperatures were enjoyed Wednesday from the eastern gulf region to central Texas, while the Great Lakes and Canadian border section was gripped in sub-freezing weather.

Roosevelt Delays

Naming Army Head

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—A new chief of staff of the army probably will not be named until after President Roosevelt returns from his Thanksgiving vacation at Warm Springs, Ga., early in December.

He said today General Douglas MacArthur would probably be selected as chief of staff until a new appointment is made. MacArthur's four-year term expires November 20.

MacArthur has been recommended for reappointment by Secretary Dern.

NEW HONORS FOR MRS. MILLER

The literary world has seldom seen a triumph and a romance comparable with that of Georgia's Caroline Miller.

Her novel, "Lamb in His Bosom," which won the Pulitzer prize this year, has been awarded the eminent French award, Prix Femina Vie Huereuse American. It carries with it assurance of translation into French and wide circulation in France. Other nations will follow France and publish the book.

Thus a romance of the pioneers of south Georgia will be read in many countries. The piney woods section and the people who settled there, as pictured by the lovely Cean and her family, will become known throughout the world.

There was romance enough in the writing and the appearance of the book. Caroline Miller, whose naive charm and enthusiasm captivated all who met her, was and is, the wife of a school principal at Baxley, Ga. She had gone to school when he was an English teacher and had married him when she had graduated from high school.

Two children, both boys, came to the Miller family and were known to the parents and the neighbors as "Nip" and "Tuck." It was Tuck who, when his mother returned home from the New York presentation of the Pulitzer prize, asked of her as they rode in triumph in a welcome prepared by the home town, "Mother, let's see the $1,000." The $1,000 had been awarded by the Pulitzer committee.

Mrs. Miller had written her novel around old stories in her family and from those gathered while driving out into the rural sections about Baxley purchasing eggs and vegetables. She wrote at odd moments when there was time to spare from the household tasks. She had had no previous experience in writing.

The book had an immediate success. Its simple yet entrancing style captivated all who read the heroic and epic story of the pioneers in south Georgia, pioneers, who, until Mrs. Miller wrote her novel, had remained unknown and unsung.

This new success, which indicates just how sound was the judgment of the Pulitzer committee, is an honor in which all Georgians will rejoice. And they, with the remainder of the world, will await the next novel by this charming young woman from Baxley, Ga.

The romance of her novel is no more intriguing than the romance of its success and the thought of the life of Cean and her family being translated into the more important languages of the world.

WE GROW CHEESE-CONSCIOUS

The delights and benefits of cheese eating is being impressed upon the people of the United States incident to the observation of "Cheese Week." Especially in Georgia is there a lesson to be learned from the nation-wide publicity being given this week to this processed product of the dairy farm.

Both in the production and consumption of cheese the state lags behind other sections of the country, despite the fact that there is no more enjoyable or health-building food and that unique opportunity is presented for its profitable production.

The cheese industry is one of the major factors in the agricultural and industrial revenues in many states offering less advantages for its manufacture. The majority of American cheese is now produced in northern states, where milk-producing herds must be housed in costly barns and fed expensive feeds during the long winter period.

In Georgia the mild winters make grazing possible practically the year around, and the overhead expense incident to the care of milk-producing herds is markedly less than in the colder climates.

Americans are not cheese-conscious to the extent that European peoples are. Cheese should appear in some form on the menu for every major meal each day. It makes a meal more appetizing and is one of the best body-building foods.

Until recent years the south produced very little cheese. The establishment of branches of large national concerns is gradually increasing production in this section of all kinds of cheese, and the observation of cheese week should serve a good purpose in calling attention to infrequent use of one of the most delightful foods, but to the opportunity presented for its production.

There are many people who do not fear death, judging from the speed they drive an auto.

A California judge has married the wife of a man he sentenced. That's the triumph of a justice.

The modern bridge engineer is the one who can out-engineer the opposing players.

The man who thinks only of himself usually does lots of thinking.

There is no rest for the weary and in this day of the auto horn.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW
By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

A Sensational Pamphlet.

The latest disquieting news from the far east concerns a pamphlet which has been published by the Japanese ministry of war. It has for title, "The Real Significance of the Defense of the State." This pamphlet is being distributed in millions of copies all over the country. It speaks of a great crisis which is to come in 1937 and then goes on to enumerate the various alleged menaces of the soviet union. The soviet union has just been in Japan on the East Chinese railway question in order to avoid war with Japan and other dangers. To do away with these dangers the pamphlet outlines a war campaign against Russia, the seizure of large sections of Siberian land tracts as big as Germany or France and all the coastal region, clear up to the north pole.

There is also a good deal in the pamphlet about the American menace. We know that America no more menaces Japan than the man in the moon. But it makes good reading to the Japanese patriots, who are slowly being put in the state of mind where Hitler has put the Germans and where they see nothing but enemies and traitors all around them. The pamphlet is an outright excitement to the Japanese mind. It is the ministry of the interior has not repudiated this chauvinist publication, which shows that the ministry is under pressure from the most warlike elements in the army.

Military Expenses.

In the meantime, military expenses in Japan are rising to astronomical heights. More than 50 per cent of the total budget is spent for the army and navy upkeep. Six hundred million yen for the army and seven hundred million for the navy for the next year. Yet the economic situation of the country is bad and growing worse all the time. In the space of one year the country's indebtedness has grown by 1,300,000,000 yen. Agriculture is in a deplorable state. Certain newspapers in Japan are alarmed and they point out that the defense of the country should now take a second rank and that the farmers should be succored first. Unless some far-reaching measures are taken the whole fabric of Japan's economy is going to tumble in ruins one of these days. One newspaper, the Hochi, warns. Before that day, however, Japan will stake everything on a foreign war. But that war she will lose.

The Naval Conference.

Japan's proposals for the coming naval conference are becoming known. Japan needs smaller warships. But she will not hear of airplane carriers, for these ships could carry an eventual war right into Japanese territory. Japan is in favor of submarines which would enable her to sink enemy shipping. Britain wants to reduce the number of ships, but not its total tonnage. The U. S. A. wants to reduce the number of ships, but not the number of ships. Yet Britain and England are closer than either is to the Japanese. Even so, chances for a successful naval conference, in the sense that it will be an "emotional" conference, are exceedingly slim. The surprising element in the negotiations is that Russia has not said a word hitherto. Japan talks a lot about the soviet menace, but the soviet has no fleet in the Pacific, while their costs swarm with Japanese ships. But then, a menace at any time to the huge Japanese armament. Ask China!

HEALTH TALKS
BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

TREMORS SO IT CAN HARDLY APPEAR BLAZE.

Whenever I try to play ball as it comes my turn at bat I begin trembling all over. If I get into a friendly game my knees begin to shake (not with fear) and my hands get heavy and tremble so that I can hardly box. The prospect of an interview with my dentist, the peace of my employer starts me trembling and especially my hands shake so that I can hardly roll a cigarette. But I am not a nervous person. Can you tell me how to overcome this nervousness so that I could enjoy sports and meet people unemotionally? (J. R.)

One of the best antidotes for such "emotional" excitement is exercise. One of the best exercises is a brisk walk or, for sound young persons, a run. Or some equivalent for such exercise. No heavy activity is equivalent to wholesome exercise.

Take baseball. The correspondent doesn't say, but we may fairly assume he refers to a game of baseball or a game of football. Perhaps even a game before spectators. Worst of all a professional game.

No one who consciously or unconsciously craves a smoke or rolls or lights a cigarette or gets out a cigar and begins to eat it or begins the operation of filling a pipe in such circumstances is nervous. Such a condition is obviously weak, defective, effeminate, lacking in self-confidence. What neurotics of that sort need is exercise, all right, but exercise without a element of competition or show-off. A game of one old cat or three old cats with a few friends or other individuals in similar plight. No spectators. No money. No prize. Serious about it. Just playing around for fun.

The idea is that such wholesome exercise without attendance fight or flight emotion serves to counterbalance the effects of the daily life of the neurotic or "nervous" person. That life is a lie. The neurotic always wishes to deceive the world, his friends or family or himself. So a brief interval of honest play or honest work is good for the liar's soul and body.

This ignorant young man—I say ignorant, though his letter indicates he is well educated above the eyebrows—needs to evade such games of baseball or boxing matches as he describes, and take up hiking or running or hunting or fishing or skating or whatever activity he can engage in regularly and without contest or competition or audience.

The trembling he describes is perfectly natural. It does not indicate fear necessarily. It may just as well spell danger to the opponent, for it is as likely as not warning of attack and fight. The machine is idling and eager to go to use the released energy either to clear away the obstacle or to escape or avoid it. Fight or flight. In civilized life it is usually better to try to get around the obstacle, to resort to flight, or else to use a good substitute.

I said walking or running is the best substitute. Sawing wood or doing the washing or mowing the lawn or shoveling the sidewalk or building a playground for the children or prying your dog's jaw loose from the neighbor's dog is law by way of occasional diversion, but you can always find work to do, anywhere at any time, in any weather, and if you really want to recover what you think is "nervous condition" you had better do it every day.

News Behind the News
By PAUL MALLON.

SUSPICION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—If the British are selling us out to the Japanese at the London conference, they have done an astoundingly good job of misleading our officials here.

You hear a lot of talk on that subject among the people who make and drink the best spiked tea. They started gossiping about it last summer. At that time, the word was passed around that the British had decided their best interests lay with the Japanese. Our people did not believe it. Just between us, they had competent assurances from no less a source than the admiral of the British fleet in the Atlantic.

Developments at London have not changed their view. Suspicion caused Ramsey MacDonald to issue his recent disclaimer. Our topmost officials have faith in him.

The best possible advice now is that you should take any rumors of any Anglo-Japanese alliance with a great big chaser.

EXPLANATIONS

British trade is strong for revival of an alignment with Tokyo because of the prospects of trade in Manchukuo and the danger of unrestricted Japanese competition in Britain's markets unless an understanding is reached. However, our people point out two significant reasons why Britain would not grant Japan's plea for naval equality despite all that may be said. If the British were to concede naval equality to Tokyo, it would open up the question of Britain's right to maintain the traditional two-power standard in Europe.

You may recall that, before the World War, Britain's traditional naval policy was the maintenance of a fleet equal to the combined fleets of the next two biggest naval powers in the world. This went by the board during the war. At the Washington arms conference, Britain definitely relinquished it in so far as this country was concerned. However, it still maintains that two-power naval standard with regard to Europe.

If she were to grant Japan equality, France, Italy and particularly Germany could start yelling.

The second point is the attitude of the British colonies, especially Australia, New Zealand and India. They all are anti-Japanese and emphatically opposed to any renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. They are for closer Anglo-American co-operation.

Although London may pretend to flirt with the Japanese for its own domestic reasons, we do not believe that, in the face of these larger issues, it will dare desert us for the Japanese.

ISSUE

The important feature of the French governmental crisis, which has not been played up in our press but which of official dispatches received from Paris indicate was the main issue, is the democratic form of government in France was at stake.

The radical socialists saved it. Led by Herriot, they walked out of Gaston Doumergue's cabinet. Without them, Doumergue faced the danger of serious internal disorders and was forced to hand in the resignation of his government. Doumergue was aiming to obtain authority to dissolve parliament without consent of the French senate, which would have paved the way for a dictatorship.

DISARMAMENT

As regards the navy situation, we still are hoping that something may be fixed up where the Japanese may get theoretical but not actual parity. Something similar to the declaration made at Geneva toward Germany's right to arms equality. However, in the case of Japan, we find the British are trying to induce her to be satisfied with "equality of security," which means theoretical parity in the respective territories of the naval powers. It would not, however, mean any necessary increase in Japan's ratio. The Japanese know it and so far refuse to be fooled.

However, Norman Davis' latest reports indicate that the Japanese, at London, anyway, would like to get an agreement even below parity, but just as we expected, they have talked so much that it's almost impossible for them to go home with anything less than the right to actual parity. We and the British still are following the policy of letting them talk in the hope they will tire of the equality idea.

PRODDING

Meanwhile, our delegation at London is doing its best to frighten the Japanese every once in a while. The headlines from London about "Reliable U. S. quarters," intimating that the United States was prepared to enter a building race and maintain the existing ratios by outbuilding the Japanese, were a little American propaganda. We decided weeks ago to issue that warning to the Japanese. Apparently, Davis decided over the weekend that the time had come.

TIP

You may expect to see France's military air supremacy maintained under the new government of Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin. He is closely linked up with the big French aviation companies.

SAAR

The January plebiscite to let the inhabitants of the Saar territory decide whether they want to remain under League control or return to Germany is not going to be postponed. The French wanted a postponement until after Hitler passed into political oblivion.

Paris has just received word that Hitler was about to play a trump card. He had intended to sit back and raise no outcry at the postponement. Hitler the opportunist, if the League granted the postponement, France had violated the Versailles treaty, which Germany therefore considered null and void in its entirety. Herr Hitler isn't going to be given that opportunity now.

This little diplomatic play hasn't yet seen its way into the European press. It's one of those behind-the-scenes activities that find their way to governments by diplomatic grapevine.

If Men Bet on the Length of a Sermon, Is the Sermon to Blame for Their Gambling?
By Robert Quillen

Russia has taught the world that the faults of capitalism are the faults of human nature, for which capitalism is in no way to blame. If politicians steal public funds, it does not follow that politics is the cause of theft. It merely affords men an opportunity to exercise an evil instinct that is equally evil in other fields.

In order to judge capitalism fairly, it is first necessary to define it. Millions of people discuss and denounce or defend it without knowing what it means.

In a group of men who call themselves enemies of capitalism, one hates the rich, another hates authority in uniform, a third hates the learned and cultured, and a fourth hates religion. Their cause may be just, but their definitions are faulty.

The system called capitalism consists in private ownership of the means of production. That is the foundation and principle and plan of it. In its worst form, most happily rare, it includes ownership of the man who handles the tools of production. In a modified form, it pays wages to the man and takes a profit on his labor as rent for its tools.

The farmer is a capitalist, for he owns the means of production. It is the principle, and not wealth, that makes a capitalist.

Wherein, then, is capitalism evil? It is not evil in itself, but only as men use it for evil purposes.

Money is power, and the power of money, if not properly restrained, can destroy liberty, pervert justice, corrupt civil authority, and develop an arrogant privileged class while the multitude starves.

That the evil is not capitalism itself, but in dictatorial, unrestrained power, is evidenced by the reign of so-called communism in Russia.

There, where capitalism is blamed for all human ills, a new privileged class, having absolute power, lives in arrogant luxury, rides in expensive cars and murders those who dare to criticize.

Fascism in Italy has destroyed liberty, also, and Hitler has destroyed it in Germany.

Whatever the name of the system may be, the evil of it is the power of one man or one class to destroy the liberty of the people.

Preserve liberty, at any cost, and public opinion will attend to those who win by breaking the rules.

DEPOSITS GAINING IN GEORGIA BANKS

Bright Picture of State's Financial Position Painted by Gormley.

A bright picture of the business and financial situation in Georgia was reported Wednesday by R. E. Gormley, state superintendent of banks, who said that steadily rising deposits in banks of the state indicated that "there is more money in the hands of the people."

Mr. Gormley said an analysis of statements filed by state banks showed that they had deposits for the quarter ending last September 30 of more than $83,000,000, against $65,750,000 at the end of June 30, 1932.

The deposits in state banks at the end of March, 1934, were $79,825,000, he said. The figures do not include the deposits in the national banks in Georgia, which are under national supervision.

which brought the total at the end of the last quarter to a point about equal to that at the end of 1930, shortly before the deposits started declining, shows increased confidence in the banks of the state, and in business. People have more money. I think one good sign of this that you see in the small towns over the state is the number of carnivals, road shows and minstrel shows traveling around. When the people have no money, you do not see these shows much."

He said he believed that the federal deposit insurance system was not entirely responsible for the rise in deposits, since about 50 per cent of the increase came before the deposit insurance became effective last Janu-

Our Statesmen Could Learn Much About Diplomacy From Babe Ruth

One wondered, reading about Babe Ruth, just what some of our blundering, important little statesmen would have done.

The Babe is enjoying his greatest triumph in Japan. The touring team, of which he is again the bull elephant of the big parade, is touring Japan and playing to crowds of 60,000 and 80,000 and more.

And in off hours there are entertainments and the crowds follow him in the streets and little almond-eyed boys and girls stick pieces of paper at him and he never fails to stop and write, in that boyish, round hand of his, "Babe Ruth," on each piece thrust at him.

The most beautiful waitresses in Japan, chosen by vote, attend him at his meals. The most beautiful girls at the schools make speeches to him.

He can't understand a word of it, of course, but the news writers get the picture across just the same. I know the Babe and I know how he does. He stands there and he listens, solemnly, and then he grins and says: "Thanks. Thanks; great, yeah, that's great."

And they don't understand the words either, but they understand what he means just the same. The Babe and kids have always understood each other.

But the best story of all was the story of the visit to an old temple to a long-time dead emperor. It was a holy place to the Japanese and there were thousands of them packed there to see the greatest ball player in the world.

And the story went on to say that Babe, the old tobacco-chewing Babe, fat and 40 and retiring from baseball, stopped at the entrance and doffed his checked

GRANT'S RUNS FEATURE WORK AT GEORGIA

Bulldogs Stop State Plays in Rough Scrimmage.

By Bill Ray.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 14.—With several hours of daylight remaining a beautiful half-moon was shining over Sanford field this afternoon when the Georgia Bulldogs were working out for the game with the North Carolina Wolf Pack.

Cy Grant, the Cornelia fox hunter, was outshining the overworking players as he himself worked overtime via the touchdown route as the varsity ran roughshod over the frosh.

All the backfield men on the Bulldog squad seemed to have the shining spirit this afternoon as Grant, Glenn Johnson, the Savannah stepper, and Alf Anderson, Decatur sophomore, gave fleet heels and shifting thighs to the tacklers.

Those backs who failed to get stellar roles in carrying the ball made up this deficiency with their tackling. The Bulldogs were stopping the plays of Coach Hunk Anderson's Wolf Pack with a great deal of accuracy.

The similarity of the systems used by the coaches, Harry Mehre and Hunk Anderson, who were teammates on one of Rockne's famous eleven, gives the Bulldog secondary a good opportunity to diagnose the plays before they get started.

In the line the problem of reserve guards still remains and today Coach Mehre shifted Julius Caesar Hall, who is one of the Spartanburg, S. C. Hall's, from right tackle to right guard. Although a little light for the exigencies of the guard position, Hall makes up his weight deficiency with his ferocious tackling. At the same time, Jesse Morgan, former tackle who had been playing guard, went back to his old position.

The cause for all the worry at the guard post was the injury of Butch McCullough, veteran guard from Atlanta who broke his arm in the Tulane game. With his arm in a cast, McCullough takes an individual workout every afternoon to keep in shape. His one ambition is to play against Georgia Tech in this his final year.

THE LINEUP.

Starting out the defensive scrimmage against Carolina State players were: Tubbsville, left end; Shi, left tackle; Johnson, left guard; Bob Law, center; Hall, right guard; Opper, right tackle; Wagon, right end; Griffith, quarter back; Bond, left halfback; Grant, right halfback, and Chapman, fullback. Frequent substitutions were made, however, until the entire squad had participated in the skirmish.

Backing up the line with severe tackles, both Buck Chapman, fullback, and Bob Law, reserve center, played an excellent defensive game. Grant was back as safety man with Jack Griffith in his position at right halfback, on the defense.

Georgia's pass offensive came in for its share of attention in the drill, as the coaches prepared to start an aerial attack if necessary to defeat the Wolf Pack.

With Tom Perkins, Marietta boy, definitely out of the football picture on account of a bad knee, the burden of the pivot position will fall on the hard-tackling John McKnight, Toccoa product; Bob Law and Buddy Milner. Perkins has suffered a season with his old knee trouble and finally gave up the struggle on advice of the coaches and Trainer Clarence Jones.

The fast development of Bob Law, sophomore from Waynesboro, however, has eased the center problem. Although handicapped by lack of weight, he is also an efficient defensive player.

Morehouse Works On New Backfield

Morehouse College, who recently sprung to life and defeated Alabama State College and Knoxville College, both on foreign soil, is working hard for the Saturday afternoon game with their ancient rivals, Clark University, on the latter's athletic field at 2 o'clock. This game is the outstanding game in the city among colored fans.

Morehouse offers a strong defense for this game with a better balanced backfield in every department. A new backer will be provided for this important game, which will have direct bearing on the city title and the conference race.

Coach Robinson, of Clark, is working on his team's blocking, which was poor in the Tuskegee game. He believes that his squad would have had a better chance to win if they had gotten the proper blocking.

All in all, the game Saturday is expected to be the hair-raiser of the season where the winner can't be decided until the final whistle.

Schmeling-Hamas Bout Report Denied

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Denials that there was any chance of Steve Hamas, fighting champion, and Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion, meeting in a return bout in Hamburg, Germany, next March today followed reports from abroad that such a match had been made.

"Hamas isn't going to Germany to fight anyone," said his manager, Charlie Harvey. "Steve will stay right here and fight Max Baer for the heavyweight title in June. Hamburg promoters cable me regarding a fight, but it means nothing."

Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling, said the former champion would arrive here in January, and was under contract to Madison Square Garden to fight Hamas.

"We've never been approached about a fight with Hamas in Hamburg," Jacobs said. "We want Hamas in Miami in February."

S. S. A. A. Heads Will Meet Tonight

Basketball teams affiliated with the Sunday School Amateur Athletic Association will hold their weekly meeting tonight at Beck & Greig Hardware Company, starting at 7:30 o'clock. The registration list will close after this meeting. Sunday schools in or near the city, supporting a girls' or boys' league, may enter by attending this meeting. Games will be played at the Y. W. C. A. on Monday and Friday nights. The co-ed league will operate on Monday. The season starts the first week in December. Call Jimmie Harrison at Walnut 1010 for information.

A 'Coat of Arms'

The occasion will be the second annual Georgia state quail shoot. Sunday's skeet shoot at Fort McPherson will offer the best prizes of the year. Staff photo.

Quail Shoot Scheduled At West End Sunday

State Department of Game and Fish Sponsoring Skeet Event Here.

By Jack Troy.

Quail will be fluttering up out of the most unexpected places in a very short while. All of which brings the huntsman back to the fundamentals of the game. Preparedness is the best motto.

So the West End Gun Club, working hand in glove with the state department of game and fish, Sunday will hold its second Georgia state quail shoot.

In place of quail, clay targets will be thrown on the skeet fields, there two of them, and so this should answer all questions as to where the quail come in.

However, should there be any doubt after this, let it be known that this is a shoot preparatory to the opening of the quail season and the prizes to be awarded to the winners this Sunday are the best of the season.

Commissioner Zach Cravey will personally present the prizes to the winners.

A grand total of 14 prizes are listed in the senior division. The awards are headed by a silver loving cup which is to be presented by the game and fish department.

There are to be prizes of all descriptions pertaining to hunting, boots, coats, trousers, et al. So make your plans to be at the Fort McPherson hilltop Sunday.

The shoot will begin at 9 a. m. and continue all day. The conductors of the shoot are Captain C. L. Davis, Field Captain I. B. Duke and Cashier Ralph Zachry. Forrest Duke will act as field judge.

Romanoff Defies Court in Match

George Romanoff, middleweight wrestler, appeared on Henry Weber's court tonight at the city auditorium, despite a superior court restraining order issued by Judge E. D. Thomas.

Jason Thompson, a promoter, secured the court order, claiming that Romanoff is under exclusive contract to him for six months, but that Romanoff wrestled Tuesday under the auspices of Henry Weber.

Romanoff was served with the order by Deputy Sheriff S. G. Davis before the wrestler entered the ring, but the match went on as scheduled. It was stated later at the sheriff's office that the match went on "because the Atlanta Boxing Commission had not passed on the question."

Attorneys for Promoter Thompson said they were undecided as to whether they will ask for a contempt order against Romanoff.

Georgians To Meet At Luncheon Friday

Members of the Atlanta Alumni Chapter of the University of Georgia Alumni Association will gather at a luncheon and a short business meeting at Rich's tea room Friday at 12:30 o'clock. The session has been called by the officers, who include Julian Robinson, president; Frank Troutman, vice president; and Buster Kilpatrick, secretary and treasurer.

All members are urged to attend as the luncheon will serve as a get-together affair before Georgia's big game with North Carolina State in Athens Saturday afternoon.

SMALLEST SQUAD.

"Twenty-seven dependable men and trust—that's the way Head coach Ducky Pond described the Yale squad he will take to Tigerown Saturday for the "big game" with Princeton. It's the smallest Yale squad to make such an important trip.

PETRELS OFF TO MEET MIAMI; GAME TOSS-UP

Edge Favors Oglethorpe, With Captain Mitrick Ready To Go.

By Jack Troy.

This story should carry a dateline—on route to Miami with Oglethorpe in spirit, because a visit to the Stormy Petrel campus yesterday revealed what is surely a close approach to the impossible.

Catholic University's massive red borders crippled a few of the Oglethorpe regulars. Such outstanding players as Jack Puryear, quarterback, and Jim Darracott, tackle, came out of the game with mean knee injuries.

But yesterday there wasn't a single player missing from the practice. And each and every one was hitting the dirt, so to speak.

Above all, the boys who had taken the worst beatings in Washington were not showing more spirit and drive than the others.

DETERMINED. The Stormy Petrels left the Terminal station last night for Miami. And they were not going along for the ride or a view of the moon as it comes up over Biscayne bay.

"We have a few cripples," Coach John Patrick said, "but none of the boys have been staying away from the practices. I look upon the game as a tossup with any edge favoring Oglethorpe's letdown against Catholic."

Oglethorpe's letdown against Catholic was caused by only one thing—Captain Frank Mitrick, 200-pound fullback, was unable to play. But Captain Mitrick is going to be in the Miami game. And the difference will show in the score. Which is what teams these days are for. (Too young to know what they played for in the good old days.)

GREAT KICKING. Belton Clark, back to the wind, was booting clouds anywhere from 60 to 70 yards in yesterday's practice at Hermance field.

Jack Puryear, kicking with an injured leg, was getting good distance to boot. Or with boot.

Kicking will be important, of course, and Oglethorpe will not have to play as many favorites.

Oglethorpe carried along on the trip a pair of fine tackles—Darracott and Willie Bell Robinson; a trio of good guards—Jack McNeely, Lamar Adams and Leonard Pickard; a fine center—Ed Massey; two great ends, Rudy McNamara and Hank Freeman; and a number of exceptional backs as follows:

Captain Frank Mitrick, fullback; Jack Puryear, Belton Clark and Jack Tuppian, quarterbacks; Sam Reslie, Sully Sullivan, Cecil Moon, Paulie, halfbacks; Hoyt, halfbacks; and Bill Mormann, reserve fullback.

Oglethorpe has very little to speak of in the matter of reserve strength. But just between friends, the odds are for Oglethorpe to win her sixth game of the season Friday night in Miami, Fla.

Down the Alleys

Bill System duckpin bowlers will occupy the alleyways of the city as many as a dozen teams in their weekly schedule of league games to-night.

Atlanta Walnut bowls Traffic; Pine Engineers vs. District Maintenance; Western Electric vs. Maintenance Engineers; Equipment Engineers vs. Atlanta Main; General Plant vs. Accounting; A. T. & E. Co. vs. Georgia Plant is the assignment for this evening.

Tyler tops the league with an average of 111; Barnett is next with 108; Tappan 107; Googler 103; Gilmore 102; Phillet 102; Campbell 101 and the remaining 60 or more are showing decided increases in their marks.

The "No Handicap" duckpin sweepstakes will be bowled this Saturday evening should attract a large crowd. The prize is a trip to the over the 100 mark, in the men's class, while in the ladies' event the entire group of league bowlers will have a near equal chance in the short three-games.

A beautiful trophy will be given for the high three-game total in the men's event and a similar award will be given to the ladies. Both awards are given by the Loew's Grand theater in conjunction with the opening of the picture "Evelyn Prentiss" this week.

The departure from the handicap meets was made this week, with a view to giving all those bowlers who have an opportunity to bowl from scratch a chance to do so. No entry fee is to be charged, only the price of the games involved.

Considerable improvement is noted in the Power Club league this season, with 11 bowlers boasting averages in the coveted "100 or better" class. Settle and Pickle top the list with 107 and then in order are Hood 106, Lucas 105, Googler 104, E. Thornton 102, Maness 102, Smith 102, Edmund 101, Senkbell and Rudasael 100 each.

Tonight, Sales vs. Lighting; Accounting vs. Transportation; Distribution vs. Operating is the arrangement of the matches.

In the Power Club Ladies' league, Live Wires bowl Circuit Breakers; Kilowatts tie up with Dynamos.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has Haas-Howell-Dodd vs. Signal Mt. Cement Co.; National Life & Accident vs. Wofford Oil Company; The Candy Company, And the Jaycees, Mazdas, Strikers and Crescents will be matched in the ladies' league.

The second week of play in the Anthony Buick Tenpin league will have Shops and New Cars as opponents, and Used Cars will tie up with Service Department.

Landis at Bedside Of Sick Brother

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Frederick Landis, the only republican elected to congress from Indiana at the November 6 election, is in a critical condition today at the Casa County hospital, where he has been a patient for three weeks, suffering from pneumonia.

His brother, Keneas Mountain Landis, the baseball commissioner, is at his bedside.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

Worth-while knowledge of the correct swing comes from a better understanding of the hitting position. Most of the action pictures show players from the front.

This view doesn't show just how close the arms are to the body at the moment of impact.

A side view will show you that the upper part of the left arm, and a view from the right side will show the right arm, to be very close to the body.

You'll find that this closeness exists only when the player stands fairly erect. When he bends over the arms are bound to get away from the body.

This separation means lack of co-ordination between the body and the arms and hands.

To enjoy the proper co-ordination stand up and keep your arms in close to your chest.

Scots Rally, Advance In Meet

PINEBURST, N. C., Nov. 14.—(AP) Turning from cold to hot, Tommy Armour and Bobby Cruickshank, the Scottish team, moved into the semifinal round of the midmonth Scotch foursome match play tournament here today, winning two matches.

Their first victims were Sal Dibono and Jack Patoni, youthful Westchester (N. Y.) combination against whom Henry Picard and Vincent Eldridge, of Pittsburgh, 4 and 3.

Tomorrow's semi-finals are of 36 holes and the Scots' rivals, Jimmy Hines and Willie Klein, the long hitting Long Islanders, are conceded a good chance to win. Klein and Hines hugged par figures this afternoon in beating Ed Dudley, Philadelphia, and Al Cuel, Flushing, L. I., 2 and 1, after their rivals previously had eliminated T. Philip Perkins, the former British amateur champion, and Emmott French, former Ryder cup captain, 2 and 1.

In the lower bracket, Johnny Revolta and Billy Burke will oppose Willie MacFarlane and Joe Turnesa. Revolta and Burke turned back Tom Creamy and Herman Barron, 2 and 1, in the quarter-finals, while MacFarlane and Turnesa were winning from Henry Picard and Clarence Owen by the same score.

The giant killers of the second round, George Diffenbaugh and Andy Ferrieles, who defeated Bill Mehre and Victor Grezi, failed to match their early place and were eliminated, 6 and 5, by Picard and Owens, who later met defeat in the quarter-finals.

Picnic Sought For Chick Manager

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The Press Scimitar said today that Valentine John Picnic, veteran catcher, formerly with the Atlanta Crackers and who also played with the Philadelphia Athletics, the Washington Senators and the Boston Red Sox, is being considered for the manager of the Memphis Southern Association baseball club.

The story says President Thomas R. Watkins, of the Chicks, has been in communication with Picnic and will talk with him again at the coming meeting of minor league officials at Louisville, in an effort to agree on terms.

Picnic, whose home is in New Jersey, was with the Toronto club of the International league last season.

ALEX GROOMING LAWRENCE HAYS FOR HALFBACK

Preston Out But Expected To Play Against Crimson Tide.

By Jimmy Jones.

Alexander, the great generalissimo who, the historians tell us, frequently became morose and sulky in his tent over the lack of more worlds to conquer, should have known his modern namesake, Coach William Alexander, of the Georgia Tech football team.

It was only a few years ago—1928 to be exact—that they were calling Mr. Alexander the "Alexander the Great" of football. That was the year he had a national champion, a Rose Bowl winner and since his boys beat both Notre Dame and California, there were, indeed, few worlds left to conquer.

In those days Mr. Alexander had football material. A coach cannot win without material, that has been fairly definitely established in the present era. So Mr. Alexander's teams won football games and they called him Alexander, the great coach.

GOOD LAST YEAR. Last year, he had fairly good material and few injuries and he and his men got a lot out of it. Georgia Tech did not play a poor football game in the entire season of 1933. In fact, it turned out a lot of superb football, even if it did not win a majority of its games.

But this season, Mr. Alexander had only fair football material. The boys, no doubt, would have done very well, but for the fact that most of their key players, including Jack Phillips, were hurt early in the season and these injuries, in the face of the hard schedule, simply left the Jackets on the outside looking in, or on the down-side, looking up, to phrase it better.

But no one hears Mr. Alexander complaining about these things, even in the darkest moments of adversity. He is a better winner than was the original Alexander, the general, and of course a much better loser.

There is no telling what Alexander, the Great, would have said, or done, had he found himself about to play a football game with the University of Alabama and very little material to play it with. The original Alexander always had good material. And he had no busted knees or injured fullbacks, or scholastic rules to worry about.

There were no graduates from Alexander's legions. His stars stood with him until they were killed or became too old to fight. So did Napoleon's.

HANNIBAL HAD IT, TOO. Hannibal, another great general, moved his army across the Alps on elephants. Mr. Alexander would like to have a few of the Alabama Red Elephants to move around Grant field.

But Coach Alexander, of Tech, will marshal his scattered infantrymen as best he can, and if he can, in time to meet Alabama on Grant field Saturday.

"Shorty" Roberts, his 132-pound quarterback and one of the few to escape the injury siege, has recovered from his attack of "flu" and should rejoin the squad in practice this afternoon.

Charley Preston, his first-string center, was sick yesterday and stood on the sidelines, but should be able to play Saturday. Other ailing men—Gibson, Katz, Phillips, etc.—should be able to play part of the game anyway.

Coach Alexander did not want to use Lawrence Hays, the sophomore fullback who has been hurt in this game, with the hope of saving him for Florida and Georgia, which Tech might have a better chance. But now he has to use Hays and is grooming him to play one of the halfbacks.

JUNKED OFFENSE. The heavy toll of injuries forced the Tech coach to change their offensive system in mid-season. They had to scrap the offense which relied on around 400 yards on running plays and passed against Tulane, because it and, of course, Tech expects none.

Tarzan White, the young man above, is a student, a prolific reader of good books and a wholly admirable young man who has seen most of the known world, but he plays a mean guard and will be just one of the attractions on Saturday when the Crimson Tide comes to town to play the Georgia Tech eleven at Grant field.

Battalino Meets Leto November 26

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 14.—(AP) Months of wrangling between the rival camps over weight and purse came to an end today when Bat Battalino and Jimmy Leto signed to meet in a 10-round bout at the Hartford state armory Monday, November 26.

The key men in the system—Phillips, Martin, Hays, Boyd and others—became injured or sick.

Auburn last Saturday gained a net of 55 yards against Tech, but the blockers let two Auburn linemen filter through and two kicks were blocked and recovered, leading to touchdowns.

Coach Alexander dispensed with all scrimmaging this week to allow his crippled men a chance to recover.

"I have no idea how they will look Saturday; our best chance seems to be to look ahead to Florida and Georgia," Coach Alex stated.

Alabama, scenting the aroma of the roses at the Rose bowl, and remembering a Tech defeat in '32 and a narrow escape in '33, probably will around 400 yards on running plays and passed against Tulane, because it and, of course, Tech expects none.

Last summer Coach Frank Thomas got a post card from him one day. It was marked from Washington, D. C. Six days later he got one from Washington—Seattle, Wash.

He is just a football player you say? No, sir. And emphatically not. He is an A student, rates as one of the best students at Alabama, is a prolific reader of good books and is studying to be a teacher. He is quiet and good-natured but I would not like to play in the line against him.

JUST ONE. Tarzan White is just one of the elephants in the Alabama parade. There is, for instance, Young Booser, a halfback who is more dangerous than the Demon Run. And there is Dixie Howell, fleet of foot and a kicker of excellence.

In fact, the All-Southern line is likely to start off with Hutson at one end, Lee at tackle and Marx at guard. And I think they could go ahead and name the entire Alabama team on the first eleven and not be far wrong. If at all.

The Crimson Tide will appear at Grant field Saturday.

Frank Thomas has done a great job in all his years at Alabama but this year seems to be his masterpiece. And of course no one wants to miss seeing a masterpiece.

Tarzan White, student, adventurer, and good football player, is a part of the masterpiece. Take a look at Tarzan. How'd you like to be in there against him? Excuse me, please.

A Tarzan of the Grid Is 'Bama's Tarzan White

He Has Put Professional Strong Men To Shame and Made Great Name.

By Ralph McGill.

When Alabama's football team sports itself on Grant field Saturday the young man whose face peers out in the photograph above will be in the line at some time or another during the game with the Techs.

Maybe a lot of the time or all of the time. He is a sawed-off young man with a build like one of those steel and concrete turrets which they built during the war to stop shell and machine gun fire.

Tarzan White is the really admirable if unusual young man who has been a subject of discussion on this page before. He hails, so to speak, from a small town in Alabama and he early fell under the benign influence of Tarzan.

He learned to shoot with bow and arrow until he could go out and knock over rabbits with them. He ate his steak rare and he built him a platform up in a tree near his home on which he slept at night.

When some alumni from Alabama went to see him about going to school and getting an education, he was up on his platform and wouldn't come down. They had to yell up at him.

BIG AND STRONG. He is strong as the proverbial bull and can out-wrestle any heavier and taller young man in school. He put a professional strong man to shame and he has lifted 500 pounds with one arm.

He has traveled in all 48 of our states, most of the provinces of Canada, six foreign countries, and is an able bodied seaman, all at the age of about 19. Candor compels me to say he seldom pays for a ticket on his summer wanderings.

Last summer Coach Frank Thomas got a post card from him one day. It was marked from Washington, D. C. Six days later he got one from Washington—Seattle, Wash.

He is just a football player you say? No, sir. And emphatically not. He is an A student, rates as one of the best students at Alabama, is a prolific reader of good books and is studying to be a teacher. He is quiet and good-natured but I would not like to play in the line against him.

JUST ONE. Tarzan White is just one of the elephants in the Alabama parade. There is, for instance, Young Booser, a halfback who is more dangerous than the Demon Run. And there is Dixie Howell, fleet of foot and a kicker of excellence.

WENTZ DELAYS HIS PURCHASE OF CARDINALS

Oklahoma Oil Magnate Defers Decision, Due to Headache.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Louis Haines (Law) Wentz, Oklahoma oil multi-millionaire, had a headache today and delayed saying "yes" or "no" to Sam Breadon's proposition to sell him control of the St. Louis Cardinals.

W. W. Prentiss, Wentz's secretary, said Wentz was "too sick to attend business yesterday but he is greatly improved today and probably will be entirely well by tomorrow." Prentiss described the oil man's illness as "nothing more serious than a severe headache."

"Mr. Wentz has Mr. Breadon's figure and is considering it," Prentiss said. "Nothing further has been done."

"I have not seen Mr. Wentz since Sunday," Breadon said. "However, he has my terms and the transfer of the Cardinals is up to his acceptance."

While Breadon's terms have not been announced officially, it is understood he is asking between $1,000,000 and $1,250,000 for his 77 per cent of the stock of the National league baseball club and its minor league "farms."

Branch Rickey, vice president and general manager of the Cardinals, is expected to become chairman of the organization if Wentz buys control, with the oil operator serving as chairman of the board.

Wentz, with millions under his control and a yen for baseball, has been negotiating for the Cardinals since before the World Series. Late yesterday it was learned the deal had reached the point where an early announcement of its completion might be expected.

Wentz, widely known in the southwest as an oil operator, sportsman, philanthropist and republican leader, seeks to buy the Cardinals in gratification of a hobby.

Breadon, who conducted the Cardinals along strict business lines, says he is going to take a long vacation and then return to his automobile business if he sells the Cardinals.

Mehre, Anderson Toiled Side by Side for Rockne

Both Coaches Failed to Get High Pressure Publicity at Notre Dame.

By Ralph McGill.

Speaking of civil war—which we were not—how about that Saturday contest over at Athens?

Once upon a time up at South Bend, Ind., Mr. Hunk Anderson and Mr. Harry Mehre toiled side by side in the livery of Notre Dame and labored in the common cause of subduing the foes of Notre Dame.

Hunk Anderson is rated as one of the better guards produced by the Irish eleven and Mehre one of the better centers. They played just before the days of high-pressure publicity and hence did not achieve the nation-wide publicity which some of the modern boys get. Still, they have their clippings.

Hunk Anderson has himself a pretty fair football team up at Raleigh, N. C. It is a team which has tied North Carolina at 7 and 7. North Carolina defeated Tech and Georgia with ease.

IN AND OUT. In other games the Wolfpack has lost by one point or by single touchdowns. It has been an in-and-out team and when it happens to be "in" it is a good team which can beat any team on its schedule.

"I am afraid it will be our luck for North Carolina State to get together and play a great game against us," said Harry Mehre, yesterday. "Our team didn't really get together until the Yale game. North Carolina State has been fumbling around all fall and showing signs of real power. So we know they have it in them. If they come through against us we will have our hands full."

State's two backfields are headed by Rex, 220 pounds, who fullbacks for the power outfit, and Roy, 140 pounds, who does the open-field work for the faster and more elusive set of backs. Hunk Anderson alternates with them.

TWO STRAIGHT. This game is one which brings the Bulldogs back home after two straight victories on the road. They have won from Florida and Yale.

The game is homecoming game and all the alumni, content and happy again after their October growling, are expected to be on hand to cheer for the team as it seeks its third consecutive victory.

The Atlanta alumni will meet Friday at 12:30 o'clock at Rich's tea room to formulate plans for going over and giving the boys a great big hand.

Anderson went south with Baltimore as an infielder last year, but later was farmed out to Johnston, Pa., in the Middle Atlantic circuit, where he was converted to a catcher.

GOPHERS TAKE TOP POSITION IN GRID POLL

Stanford Replaces Alabama in Second Place in Standings.

By Alan Gould.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Stanford's Indians, now on the war-path on Pacific coast gridiron, replace Alabama's Crimson Tide as the runner-up to mighty Minnesota tonight in the national ranking list of college football teams, compiled by the Associated Press from more complete returns in a poll among the country's leading newspaper observers.

Here's the revised order of the ranking in the "first ten," which includes five teams from the east, three from the middle west, one each from the south and far west:

	W.	L.	Tied
1. Minnesota	6	0	0
2. Stanford	7	0	1
3. Alabama	7	0	0
4. Pittsburgh	6	1	0
5. Princeton	6	0	0
6. Illinois	6	0	0
7. Navy	6	0	0
8. Colgate	4	1	0
9. Ohio State	5	1	0
10. Syracuse	6	0	0

Additional and more representative returns today did not slacken the landslide for Minnesota. The Gophers have the votes of 50 out of a total of 85 experts for first place. The remaining 15 observers listed Minnesota second, with Stanford getting 81-2 nominations for the top of the heap, Alabama 51-2 and Pittsburgh 1.

Alabama's previous lead over Stanford for second place was wiped out by a rush of support for the Indians from west coast observers. Opinions of all major gridiron sections are well represented in the poll, however. They include 20 sports writers and editors from the east, 19 from the middle west, 14 from the south and 12 from the far west.

Bank Robbed.
LAKELAND, Fla., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Three armed men raided the bank of Mulberry shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon, forcing Cashier A. D. Denham, into the vault and scoping up cash estimated at $3,000.

STOP THAT ITCH In One Minute

It is actually surprising to see how quickly, pure, cooling, liquid, antiseptic D. D. D. Prescription relieves the itching tortures of eczema, scales, eruptions, rashes and other skin afflictions. Thirty years' success recommends this remedy, originated by Dr. D. D. D. Dennis. Its gentle oils soothe the irritated and inflamed skin, thus aiding nature itself to heal the disorder. No fumes—no mess. Clear, grassy and stainless—dries up almost immediately. Stops the most intense itching instantly. Try D. D. D. now. A 25c trial bottle, at drug stores, is guaranteed to prove it—or money back. D. D. D. Prescription is made by the owners of ITALIAN BALM.

recipient of congratulations today when he will observe his forty-first anniversary with the company.

Mr. Vinson, well-known Atlantan, is a native of middle Georgia, having been born on a farm near Milledgeville. He attended school at Georgia Military College, at Milledgeville, after which he decided that his calling was elsewhere than on the family plantation. He went to Savannah, where he obtained employment as a grocer's helper and for which work he was paid 25 cents a day.

He worked hard and in a short time started ascending the ladder by getting a promotion and an accompanying raise to $4 a week. Later he was promoted to the management of an old-line store at Augusta. As business was expanded, he was given more opportunities. His next promotion was to the position of superintendent of outside stores, which at that time were scattered over the section between Tennessee and Texas. He then was promoted to superintendent of the A. & P. stores and was placed in Savannah.

The next rise in his career came as he was promoted in 1922 as general superintendent with headquarters in Atlanta.

States called to make the movement, are expected to return to Atlanta shortly.

State supreme court Wednesday held that the First Christian church, of Macon, had not acquired the prescriptive right to use a 15-foot driveway adjacent to its property and that the Bibb superior court was correct in refusing to enjoin the owner of the property from building a wall upon it.

Gordon Knox, of Hazelhurst, former state senator, was at the capital on business Wednesday.

W. Lawrence Garrett, of Burwell, representative-elect from Carroll county, who was in Atlanta Wednesday, said he would favor the county-unit system, instead of the popular vote, in any referendum on changing Georgia's prohibition law.

H. L. Williams, of Baxley, representative-elect from Appling county, said here Wednesday that a cricket known as the Cuban mole, was doing extensive damage to crops in the Appling county section. He said the pest had been attacking tobacco, cabbage, pepper and other plants in that area during the past year.

Another fast flight in a Douglas plane, this time from Dayton, Ohio, to Atlanta, brought Lieutenant L. E. Hatmon and Major W. E. Wilmerling over the 400-mile course in two and one-half hours. The average speed of the trip was 180 miles an hour, one of the fastest flights ever made between Dayton and Atlanta by that type of plane.

THE BREAK OF DAY

cap and bowed while the Japanese, sensing his attitude, went into hysterics of applause. I imagine that one of our strutting senators on, say a committee of friendship, would have lacked the instinct of the Babe, who came out of an orphan's home and was schooled in the hard school of baseball. One of our great men would have strutted in and complained the place was in need of repair, or that maybe the drains smelled badly.

The war lords of both nations and the munitions salesmen and owners may be plotting wars, but somehow one gets the picture with the Babe. The people would rather receive baseball teams than armies.

Somehow this triumph of the Babe's, his greatest one, gets under the skin. He knows what to do and what to say, and the result is the Japanese kids, boys and girls, worship him and the grown-ups are as enthusiastic.

Patient—not quiet comprehending it all, but realizing that for some unknown reason the kids are for him—the Babe goes on his way, signing his name, giving away baseballs, indulging in any stunt for the papers, posing for pictures with kimonos about his middle, eating with chopsticks, waving from parades—

It's all great stuff to Babe Ruth fans, but that story of the approach to the temple was the best one of all. He removed his cap and he bowed.

WHEN HERE LAST SPRING.

When here last spring the Babe was at his best. I recall the morning the papers were there to meet him with the photographers, he was beset by a woman who wanted her children photographed with the Babe. There was no reason for it.

But she got him as he entered the hotel with his wife, and so he stopped.

"Sure, sister, sure," he said. And he posed with the kids, smiling, and the picture was taken.

In the three days he was here his room was a parade ground for kids. They woke him by 7 o'clock every morning. They came in to shake hands, get his name on paper, to ask questions.

And the Babe, lying propped up with pillows, received them all. It was like that in every town.

Grantland Rice was here at the time and he, too, was being besieged. But he knew the traffic was a bit heavy. So one morning, sleepy-eyed, he asked a dozen youngsters:

"Boys, who sent you down here?"

"Mr. Ruth told us you were here," they said, "and told us to come right down to your room."

And so Rice signed his name and gave advice on how to become a sports writer and a ball player.

"I don't see how he does it," said Rice, "but he does. It's that way in every town. But he goes through with it."

The story goes that in Japan today all the youngsters are trying to learn to bat left-handed. The right-handed ones have swapped over, for does not Babe Ruth himself swing from the left side?

And so the tour goes on, with Japan baseball mad. They have played the game for many years over there. Mr. Francis Clark, The Constitution's associate editor, was in Tokyo, Japan, recently. He was there when a college baseball series was on. And he was there the night the series was decided.

Now Tokyo is a city of 3,000,000 people, not a college town. But that night it was necessary to call out extra police and some of the army because the students were taking the town apart in celebration.

I am wondering if our national game has not become the international game and no longer belongs to us. Certainly we have lost the madness for the game which the Japanese have.

BOBBY JONES AND BABE RUTH.

There have been no more different types of ambassadors than Babe Ruth and Bobby Jones.

And no more successful. Bobby Jones never made a mistake. His popularity in England and Scotland was so great that the English people seemed more rejoiced than we when he won his greatest triumphs.

Bobby Jones was the only champion that sport has produced whom people wanted maintained in office. There is always a desire to see the champion pulled down. But there was fierce resentment when anyone defeated Bobby Jones.

And now Babe Ruth is ambassador to Japan, the nation which our jingo minds say we must fight some day.

I hope, if the situation ever becomes serious and if the worst minds of both nations succeed in bringing us to the verge of war, some one will have the sense to cable Japan: "We are sending over Babe Ruth instead of an army."

The reply would come back: "Send the Babe and forget about the war. Ten million of our kids want his autograph and some batting instructions."

WOMEN CLASH AT RIVERSIDE

Dolly Dalton has been given a return match with Laura Davis in one of the main matches at the Riverside arena Thursday night.

Miss Dalton is known as the "Blood Tigress" wrestler from Miami, Fla., and during their last match she won over her opponent in 45 minutes of fast wrestling.

Bill W. Marietta wrestler, will meet Whittie Patterson in the main match. This will be a "grudge" match.

Red Dugan, Chattanooga, will tangle with Glenn Cowan, the Atlanta police wrestler, in another 60-minute match.

The usual low prices will prevail for these matches.

Fort Valley Team Plays for Crown

FORT VALLEY, Ga., Nov. 14.—The Fort Valley Normal and Industrial school Wildcat eleven will meet the Beecham-Cookman College of Daytona Beach on the Fort Valley campus Friday afternoon, November 16, at 2 o'clock in a game which will have a decisive bearing upon the Southeastern junior college championship.

The Florida team has already defeated Georgia State College, of Savannah, and Edward Waters, of Florida. Fort Valley vanquished Alabama State, of Montgomery, and Georgia Normal, of Albany.

This will be homecoming game for Fort Valley and a reception and dance to the school auditorium for the alumni and visitors after the game.

INJURIES HURT PREP ELEVENS

Boys' High and Tech High football teams were dealt their heaviest blows of the year this week when the ranks were considerably depleted through injuries and sickness.

Coach Shortt Doyal, Boys' High coach, was confined to his home Wednesday following an attack of flu and probably will be lost to the team the remainder of the week. Meanwhile, assistant coaches, Dickie Butler and Dwight Keith, are in charge of the squad.

Carey McQueen and George Gerakitis, two of the best Boys' High backs, are still missing from the practice and likely will not be in uniform before next week. Both were out of the Georgia game last week and their leg injuries have not responded to treatment as expected.

Jack Newlands, fullback, and Ed Coyle, end, are missing from Tech High practices. Both are out with attacks of flu. Coyle suffered a bad "charley horse" in the Lanier game and now the flu has him definitely out for several days at least.

Boys' High plays Central at Chattahoochee and Tech High meets Commercial at Ponce de Leon park Friday.

Boys' High held a long offensive scrimmage Wednesday afternoon. A scrum combination of Tom Cumbe, at quarterback; Rudy Atkinson and Carlisle Smith, at halfbacks, and Jim Brandes, at fullback, worked well and scored several times.

The line of Thrash and Anderson, ends; Mount and Turner, tackles; Brooks and Richards, guards, and Captain Dick Jones, at center, played a majority of the afternoon intact.

Tech High reserves were given a long scrimmage against Red Collins eleven, while the varsity and second team went through long signal drills.

THEN AND NOW.

Val Connolly, who played guard for three years on the New York University varsity and now calls the plays for the press at the Violets' games, says his present duties take more out of him than 60 minutes on the playing field. "How I envy those boys down there," Connolly remarked from his lofty perch.

Telephone Users Consider Quality and Dependability of Service as Paramount

Telephone service is such an intimate, personal service that anything adversely affecting it at once becomes a subject of individual interest to the millions of users. Because this service has such an important part in your every day social and business life, its quality and dependability are matters of serious concern to you. Service inferior to the high standard to which you are accustomed would not be acceptable, even at a lower price.

Recognizing this fact, the Bell System has always so shaped its policy as to insure the best and most dependable service that science and careful, farsighted management could produce, at the lowest possible cost consistent with financial safety.

Due to this constructive policy, the telephone business has never earned speculative profits.

In the best years of the Southern Bell Telephone Company's history, and during a time when other businesses were earning large profits on soaring prices, the cost of telephone service was kept at a level where the return on the investment was never more than 7%. In 1930, when the depression was first felt, these earnings declined rapidly, and in 1933 they shrank to about 4% on the investment.

It is obvious that further reductions of such already inadequate earnings would seriously endanger the financial soundness of the business, and be reflected in the quality and dependability of the service.

Mrs. Robert J. Woods Jr. Honored By Mrs. Harry Callaway at Tea

Mrs. Robert J. Woods Jr. was central figure at the beautiful tea given on Wednesday when Mrs. Harry Callaway entertained at her home on Woodward way. Pale pink roses and snapdragons adorned the spacious living room where the guests were received by Mrs. Callaway, Mrs. Woods, Mrs. Lee Hand, of Senola, and Mrs. L. D. Allen, of LaGrange.

Mrs. Callaway was gowned in white lace posed over white satin and a shoulder spray of gardenias completed her costume. The honor guest wore lavender velvet shading into fush tones with a shoulder bouquet of Parma violets. Mrs. Allen chose brown lace with a spray of yellow roses. Mrs. Hand was gowned in creamy lace with brown trimmings and she wore Tallman roses. Mrs. Ely Callaway wore a handsome black lace gown with a shoulder spray of Sweetheart roses. Little Miss Harriet Callaway assisted her mother in entertaining. Those assisting the hostess were Mesdames Robert Mitchell, Montague Boyd, Clyde Walker, Charles Moore, Luther Randall, Anthony Council, Walter Scott Askew and Miss Marie Askew. Yellow roses combined with pale yellow snapdragons effectively arranged in a silver bowl centered the tea table where Mrs. William Sutherland poured coffee and Mrs. Ben Barron poured tea. Yellow tapers in silver candleabra encircled the floral decoration.

The entertainment is one of series being given in honor of Mrs. Woods, who was the former Miss Virginia Allen prior to her marriage which was brilliantly solemnized at the First Baptist church in LaGrange in October.

Miss Dean and Miss Knox Are Central Figures at Lovely Tea

Miss Marion Dean entertained at tea Wednesday at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue in compliment to her debutante sister, Miss Mary Spalding Dean, and to Miss Suzanne Knox, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fitzhugh Knox. The lovely honor guests were schoolmates at Gunston hall in Washington, D. C., and are among the most popular and admired members of the debutante coterie.

Autumn flowers and richly tinted foliage formed the elaborate decorations throughout the reception rooms of the home. The lace-covered table in the dining room held in the center a charming arrangement of tal-man roses and baby's breath in an alabaster bowl. Small bowls filled with similar blossoms surrounded the centerpiece and alabaster candlesticks held tall yellow tapers.

Mrs. Edgar Dunlap Sr. and Mrs. James H. Crawford poured tea from handsome silver services and Mrs. Fitzhugh Knox poured coffee. Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. Frank Dean, Mrs. Goodloe Yancey, Mrs. J. V. Pierson, Mrs. Robert Bodgson and a pair of charming debutantes, Miss Kathryn Jetton and Miss Dorothy Brumby.

Two hundred members of Atlanta's society contingent called during the afternoon to meet the debutantes.

Mrs. Hines Honors Miss Frances Haven

Miss Frances Haven, popular member of the season's debutante group, was central figure at the luncheon given Wednesday at the Brookhaven Country Club by Mrs. H. F. Hines. Miss Haven is the attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Hines and her debutante presentation to society is marked by numerous social courtesies planned in her honor. The luncheon table in the shape of T was beautifully appointed. At the top of the letter was a graceful basket filled with pom-pom chrysanthemums, and ranking the length of the table were silver candlesticks holding tall white tapers.

Assisting the hostess in receiving the guests was the mother of the honor guest, Mrs. J. H. Hines. Covers were placed for the members of the 1934-35 Debutante Club.

Luncheon Honors Miss Espie Dallas.

Miss Espie Dallas, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dallas, was central figure Wednesday at the luncheon given by Mrs. Benjamin T. Smith at the Piedmont Driving Club. The guests were Mesdames Dallas, Palmer Dallas, Lucia Smith, Deas Smith, Laura Troutman, Louisa Robert, Octavia Riley, Maude Thompson, Mary Ann Carr, Frances Weinman, Mary Cobb Hunnicutt, Louise Clayton, Florie Adkins, Josephine Clayton and Mrs. J. P. Allen Jr.

Mrs. McRae's Luncheon.

Mrs. Floyd McRae Jr. gives a luncheon at her Habersham road residence on Friday, November 30, in compliment to a bevy of charming debutantes.

Miss Vera Smith and Mr. Kinard Wed at Quiet Home Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Smith announce the marriage of their sister, Miss Vera Smith, to Stephen Bert Kinard, which was quietly solemnized at their home at 1715 Ponce de Leon avenue on Wednesday afternoon. The ceremony was performed at 5 o'clock by Rev. H. R. Jones, in the presence of immediate relatives, and the rites took place in the living room.

An improvised altar formed of palms and ferns was centered with a basket filled with white chrysanthemums, and flanked on either side by 14-branched candleabra holding white tapers. The wedding march from Wagner's "Lohengrin" was played by Mrs. Byrd O'Neal. Rankin McEachern, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer, and wore a dark blue suit.

The bride's titian beauty was enhanced by a stylish suit of green wool, the coat collared in brown fur, and her hat was a becoming model of green felt. An eggshell crepe blouse, green accessories and a shoulder bouquet of bronze orchids and valley lilies completed her effective and becoming costume.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith entertained at an informal reception after the ceremony, Mrs. Smith being gowned in black velvet, offset by a shoulder spray of orchids.

Yellow and white roses adorned the lace-covered table in the dining room, and Mrs. William Turner and Miss Dorothy Strangwood served punch, the bowl being decorated in richly tinted fruits. Assisting in receiving the guests were Mrs. Hattie Buttrill and Mrs. Asa Buttrill, of Jackson, Ga., aunts of the bride, and Mrs. J. N. McEachern Jr. The bride's book was lent by Miss Linda Jernigan.

Mrs. Kinard is a daughter of E. L. Smith and the late Mrs. Mary Buttrill Smith, of Jackson. She was educated at Washington Seminary and at Sullins College in Virginia. She belongs to the O. B. X. Club, a social organization, and is a charming and attractive young woman.

Mr. Kinard is a son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Kinard Sr., of Jackson, and received his education at Georgia Military Academy and at Perdue University, and belongs to the Sigma Nu fraternity. He is connected with the Industrial Life and Health Insurance Company in Greenville, S. C., where he and his bride will reside on December 1, after their return from their wedding trip to New Orleans, Louisiana.

Phi Beta Sigmas Given Party Series.

Members of the Phi Beta Sigma fraternity will entertain at a winter roast this evening, assembling at 7 o'clock with their guests, at 425 North Highland avenue. Plans for this affair were made at the dinner given by the fraternity Tuesday evening at Wisteria Gardens. Charles Free was chairman of the program for the dinner and presided. Special honor was paid to visiting grand president of the fraternity, Noel M. Cauthon, for his notable record and for his work in the promotion of the organization. Johnnie Schultz extended an invitation to members to attend an informal dinner at his home on Oxford road during the week. Miss Louise E. Smith was complimented by the grand president, and Miss Maine Carnell was appointed to report on recently received items from other youthful organizations. Hal Stevens informed members that he would present a musical number at the next meeting to be held on November 23, instead of November 20, as previously announced. Miss Doris Gibbs announced the winter roast. Following the dinner the guests enjoyed dancing.

Miss Wilson Honored By Miss Wimbish.

The Forgotten Honeymoon

by ROY VICKERS

Rhoda Cornsby's engagement to Major Ralph Stornack, of apparent position and wealth, is arranged by her ambitious mother. Rhoda is in love with Colin Briarley, who is serving a 20-year sentence for the murder of a Canadian solicitor in a London night club. Colin was alone at the table with the Canadian when the lights went out and he was struck in the throat by a table knife. Chief witness against Colin was Major Stornack, who was the solicitor's host. Rhoda met Stornack when he called to express his regret for the testimony he had to give at her lover's trial. Jack Caermoen, an old pal of Colin's, is his wanderer. His plots of Rhoda's escape by taking Colin's place as prisoner, however, failed. Rhoda had left her marriage to Stornack. They spend a brief honeymoon in Wales. Rhoda had left her marriage to Stornack. They spend a brief honeymoon in Wales. Rhoda had left her marriage to Stornack. They spend a brief honeymoon in Wales.

INSTALLMENT VIII.

"Well, she can't marry a fellow who's serving a life sentence. She gets on damn badly with her mother, who gives her a wretched time. She regards me as her best friend and she'll marry me for the sake of quietness and independence. Her father's mugged up his capital and I've implied that I can put everything straight for them. And her mother will never leave her alone until we're married."

Leningway thought it over.

"You say she was in love with that fellow Briarley. Of course he didn't kill Simpson. I read the account in the British papers. I guessed who killed him and I'm not grumbling. I gave Simpson his chance and he wouldn't take it. But—why did you do it there and then with that fellow sitting next to him?"

"Simpson was a bit drunk. He was just going to tell Briarley the news. And I would have stood no chance whatever if everyone knew that the black sheep of the family had died rich and left his little niece Rhoda the better part of a quarter of a million. I got Galston to stand by the switch and wait for the signal for me."

"Very neat!" said Leningway. "You're a quick thinker, Stornack."

"As it is," continued Stornack, "the Cornsbeys are known to be hard up. So there's no suspicion that I am a fortune hunter—genuine romance and all that. Strengthens my hand enormously with mama. I'll probably have to put up another thousand, Leningway. I'm doing it as economically as I can, but I must go on looking well off until I've fixed the marriage."

It was some time before Leningway answered.

"You might have the nerve to throw me into the flower bed if you lost your temper. But you wouldn't be such a fool as to double-cross me," he said slowly. "You shall have the thousand, Stornack."

"Are you going to stay here?"

"No. I came over to have a chat with you."

"Joe ought to be glad his wife talks. A woman has got to love a man if he can set in the same room all evening and say nothin'."

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

growing dark, and he knew that he soon must start homeward; but just as he was about to do so, it seemed that he heard his name being called from a distance.

Looking in the direction from which the sound came, he saw a good man "slowly toiling up the rocks, and bending under the weight of something which he carried on his back."

The load under which the stranger struggled was a keg of liquor. He made signs to Rip Van Winkle to have him come down and join him. Rip drank some of the liquor—it must have been drugged for it put him into deep slumber, from which he did not awaken for 20 years.

"On waking," writes Washington Irving, "he found himself on the green knoll whence he had first seen the old man of the glen. He rubbed his eyes—it was a bright sunny morning. 'Surely,' thought Rip, 'I have not slept here all night.' 'What excuse sha' I make to Dame Van Winkle?' He looked around for his gun, but in place of the clean, well-oiled fowling piece he found an old firelock lying by him, the barrel incrustured with rust, the lock falling off and the stock worm-eaten.

That was just the beginning of the surprises which were in store for Rip Van Winkle. When he returned to the village he found that his wife had died long since, that his children had grown up, and that most of his old friends had died or moved away.

"Rip Van Winkle" is perhaps the most famous of the stories which were written by Washington Irving. It appeared in print in 1820, when Irving was 37 years of age.

Lady Hamilton afforded her best opportunity to show her ability both as an actress and a writer. Homer's dramatic versatility was demonstrated convincingly by her characterization of personalities as Beginning with Nell Gwynn, the program reached its climax in acting ability with Miss Homer's portrayal of Lady Emma Hamilton, who on her death bed defiantly recalls the love of Lord Nelson and her ruthless husband.

Other examples of Miss Homer's excellent creative acting were the sketches of Josephine, the wife of Napoleon; of Isabella, Queen of Spain; drew a relation between the epics in the lives of her characters and experiences of women today.

PHILCO

A musical instrument of quality

TUNE-IN

London, Paris, Madrid,
Rome, Buenos Aires,
and Countless Other
Stations All Over The World

NEW PHILCO 201X—$250
High-Fidelity Radio

This PHILCO gives you the finest High-Fidelity reception of American broadcasts plus programs from foreign countries! The tonal range of the PHILCO High-Fidelity Radio is 50 to 7500 cycles, as compared to the 50 to 4000 cycles of the best previous radio. Not only does the PHILCO 201X reproduce the high treble notes but also the very important overtones which give naturalness and realism to voice and music. By means of its Fidelity-Selectivity Control, you can adjust the receiver to get the full benefit of the maximum tonal range of any American station.

So you might fully enjoy these overtones and the sparkling high notes (which tend to travel in straight lines), PHILCO developed the Sound Beam Diffuser and Sound Diffusing Cabinet which distribute voice and music evenly throughout the room. With the famous Patented Inclined Sounding Board they give you, wherever you sit, the full tonal beauty of every program.

NEVER before has there been such a wealth of entertainment on the air—or such a marvelous radio as the new 1935 PHILCO to bring it ALL to you at its BEST!

Listen to fascinating, new programs from all over the world—hear the greatest artists of every land—thrill to the finest music abroad and at home! Don't miss this spectacular radio reception any longer! You can have it all with amazing naturalness and realism through the magic of PHILCO'S famous Patented Inclined Sounding Board.

Fall and winter months are thrilling months for short-wave reception. And right now PHILCO dealers are celebrating the production of the 5 Millionth PHILCO with greater values, easier terms and more liberal trade-in allowances than ever before! Ask for a demonstration.

NEW PHILCO 16X—$189.50

With the Famous Patented Inclined Sounding Board

World-wide reception plus tone such as only PHILCO can give. PHILCO'S Patented Inclined Sounding Board is the greatest single development in scientific sound reproduction:

- 1 Its inclination directs the straight-traveling high tones up to ear level, giving brilliance and clearness.
- 2 Its large baffle area brings out all low tones, giving mellowness and depth.

RESULT: All music and speech are distinct and natural, as if the artists were present "in person."

And many other important PHILCO developments, including 4 Tuning Bands, Bass Compensation, Four-Point Tone Control, Super Class "A" Audio System, Auditorium Speaker, Shadow Tuning, Automatic Volume Control, Illuminated Station-Recording Dial, PHILCO High-Efficiency Tubes, etc. Superb hand-rubbed cabinet of gorgeous, costly woods.

PHILCO 29X—$79.50
